NEW MEASURES TAKEN TO KEEP PEACE IN BENGAL

Naval Treaty Is To Be Signed By Powers Tuesday

Last Session of Conference in London to Start at 10.30 a.m. and Pact Soon Thereafter Will Bear Delegations' Signatures, Ready for Submission to the Governments; Final Approval Given Draft by Five Delegations To-day.

London, April 21.—Announcement was made at St. James's Palace at noon to-day that the last plenary session of the Five Power Naval Limitation Conference would be held at 10.30 a.m. to-morrow. The treaty drawn up here, a three-power limitation pact with some five-power sections, will be signed at that time.

Heads of the five delegations met to-day and formally approved the draft treaty, which was then sent to the printers.

Those present were Premier Ramsay MacDonald, United States Secretary of State Simon, Japanese Ambassador Hirota, Italian Ambassador Visconti Venosta, and Ambassador Bordenaro of Italy. The two ambassadors officiated in the absence of their chiefs.

BRIAND TO SIGN

Foreign Minister Briand was en route to London to-day from Paris, while Dino Grandi, the Italian Foreign Minister and chief of delegation, will not be present for the signing. Grandi was ill when he last returned to Rome and was said still to be suffering from his indisposition.

Although it was first said the treaty might run up to 16,000 words, it was reported late to-day it would not run over 7,000 words.

ARRANGE TO SAIL

On the strength of the announcement of the final conference session to-morrow, the delegation here happily concluded its sailing arrangements for the voyage home aboard the liner Leviathan, which may be held at Southampton, until Wednesday morning for the travelers.

Most of the delegation were in their quarters superintending packing after the three months in London, while Secretary Simon had farewell to his country home at Brampton, and said goodbye to his household staff there.

Interest Growing As Budget Is Prepared

Premier King and Ministers Will Resume Cabinet Meetings in Ottawa Next Thursday; Commons Will Meet Next Monday; Election Talk

Ottawa, April 21.—While quiet still prevails in the halls of Parliament, it is a period of anticipation and conjecture. On Thursday Premier King and his ministers, nearly all of whom are out of town for a brief rest, will resume their meetings. They will have before them the principal item on the sessional programme—the budget.

The financial statement of the Finance Minister, while, in addition to reviewing the fiscal year, covers his proposals for raising revenue for the present fiscal year, is always an important item.

ELECTION TALK

This year a particular importance and interest attaches to it. It is expected by many that its presentation will give a real inkling as to whether or not the government is going to the country during the coming summer. On that point there are varying views, but lately the pendulum has swung in the direction of an election. It is suggested the government will bring down its budget, put it through the House, pass the estimates and possibly the most important legislation, and then go to the country some time in August or early in September.

Of all this, the Prime Minister has given no direct intimation. His last word on the subject before departing for Bermuda, from where to-day he is homeward bound, was that the question was still open.

PREMIER KING VOYAGES HOME FROM BERMUDA

Prime Minister Says He Had Complete Rest During Stay on Island

Hamilton, Bermuda, April 21.—The ocean voyage to Bermuda and his holiday on the island had afforded him a complete rest. Mr. King, W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, said in conversation here before embarking for the return journey to Canada.

"That is what I came down for," he stated. "I have not had a single letter, cable or paper of any kind since I came. No news is good news."

Premier King and Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, sailed aboard the Arcadian yesterday for New York, from that city the Prime Minister will proceed by train to Ottawa.

BEAUTIFUL SPOT

"I have been around the world and seen a good many places of noted beauty, but I have never seen anything to equal Bermuda," said Premier King. "It is almost ideally situated with regard to Canada. I am sure trade relations will become closer and closer."

FOOTBALL IN BRITAIN TO-DAY

Many Teams Are Engaged in League Matches in United Kingdom

London, April 21.—Battle for supremacy in the various divisions of the English Soccer Football League went on again to-day when a number of return engagements were played. Sheffield Wednesday, leading the First Division, got a jolt when the runner-up, Derby County, playing at home, defeated them by 4-1. The Wednesday's lead was cut but not obliterated. The two clubs meet at Sheffield to-morrow. Leicester City and Arsenal indulged in a goal fest, each side getting six in another First Division fixture.

CONSTABLE IN VANCOUVER IN FATAL MISHAP

J. Urquhart Has Both Legs Cut Off When Run Over By Locomotive

Vancouver, April 21.—Suffering the loss of both legs above the ankles, when struck by a switch locomotive on the Canadian Pacific Railway right-of-way at Columbia Avenue shortly before 10 a.m. to-day, C.F.R. Constable James Urquhart, forty-five, Thurston Street, died at noon in St. Paul's Hospital.

Constable Urquhart was guarding the crossing as train No. 4, eastbound, was passing. Railway officials think he failed to hear the locomotive proceeding west on an adjacent track and stepped directly in its path. The engine was moving slowly.

The constable was dragged twenty yards. Both legs were severed and he sustained severe cuts about the head and body and internal injuries.

Born at Roslair, Scotland, in April, 1885, Urquhart served with the police force at Glasgow and after coming to Canada joined the Winnipeg police force. He entered the service of the Canadian Pacific in May, 1914.

He served overseas with the 28th Battalion from 1914 to 1919. He was awarded the Military Cross and also won the Mons Star. He was unmarried.

BRITISH LABOR LEFT WINGERS RENEW VOWS

Declare MacDonald Ministry Has Lagged in Socialistic Moves

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent
Birmingham, Eng., April 21.—The breach in the British Labor Party ranks. The conference of the Independent Labor Party to-day reaffirmed the policy of "socialism in our time" as the accepted policy of its Parliamentary group. There were objections and passing storms when the right of "left-wingers" in Parliament to vote against the Labor Government was upheld. There was much criticism of the Government, particularly in regard to its unemployment policy, but the conference defeated a motion which would have censured the Government.

From several delegates came suggestions that the outcome would be a left-wing party, distinct from the official Labor Party.

Eight Thousand Worshipers At Sunrise Service

Largest Gathering at Mt. Tolmie Yesterday Since Services Were Inaugurated; Half of Congregation Made Up of Young People; Impressive Address Delivered by Rev. Dr. Clem Davies; Natural Amphitheatre, Better Acoustics and Delightful Weather Make Service Memorable.

The greatest congregation ever gathered in Victoria marked the Easter Sunrise service held yesterday morning on the crest of Mount Tolmie. Weather conditions were perfect for the impressive open-air ceremony, and the number who attended the most important service on the Christian calendar was estimated at eight thousand. Special street cars and busses brought hundreds of people to the nearest terminus. Hundreds of others who participated left home in the early morning to drive automobiles to the crest of Mount Tolmie, where parking space was crowded an hour before the service. Others were parked along the roadside at the foot of the hill, from where passengers climbed the rest of the journey to the crest of the mount to take part in the impressive ceremony.

IMPROVED ARRANGEMENTS

The service was opened promptly at 7 o'clock by Rev. Clem Davies, D.D. The choir of the City Temple led the singing and responses. The acoustics were greatly improved over previous years by installation of a battery of excellent loud speakers and transfer of the pulpit to the focal point of a natural amphitheatre, eastward of the bandstand. The City Temple Orchestra, conducted by Arthur L. Hickling, accompanied the City Temple Choir under the direction of George A. Downard, which led the great concourse in Easter hymns and anthems.

Prominent among the concourse were young people of high school and college age, who formed about half of the audience. Many people who were present at the service, occupied seats in their own automobiles which had been parked at the summit. Splendid parking arrangements were made and the traffic facilitated by the police, who co-operated with great efficiency.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

The Episcopal form of service opened with the singing of the Doxology, followed by the hymn, "All Hail The Power of Jesus' Name." Dr. Davies then gave the call to confession, responded to by the congregation. The congregation sang the hymn, "Up From the Grave He Arose."

The responsive reading was the description of the discovery of the empty tomb by Mary Magdalene and her meeting with the risen Lord, as told in St. John's Gospel. The Apostles' Creed was recited, being followed by the Gloria Patri and singing of the hymn "Come, Ye Saints, Look Here and Wonder."

THOUSANDS IN STORM'S PATH ARE HOMELESS

Red Cross Sends Physicians and Relief Supplies From Manila

Manila, April 21.—Crippled communications to-day brought further evidence of the toll taken Friday by the destructive typhoon which swept over fourteen towns of the island of Leyte, demolishing the communities of Tolosa and Dulac. Thousands were homeless and many were believed dead or injured.

Official reports from the devastated region said a complete check could not be completed for a week or more, since many towns had been isolated with telegraph wires down.

Governor De La Cruz of Leyte wired the United States Red Cross here, forty-eight hours after the typhoon struck: "Please secure immediate aid for thousands of homeless people, especially food, clothing and building materials."

He described coconut trees as standing like cables with their tops blown off. The entire crop was destroyed, he said.

The Red Cross has taken action toward organizing the provincial forces of Leyte and Samar and arranged to send physicians, nurses and relief supplies, sailed from this port this afternoon aboard the liner Kaskasima, bound for Europe by way of the Suez Canal. WOOD LEADS KEN BLACK IN FINALS

Gains Advantage of Three Up in First Round of B.C. Amateur Golf

Black Recovers to Win Last Two Holes After Wood Was Five Up

Vancouver, April 21.—Freddy Wood of the Vancouver Golf Club, outplayed Ken Black of Shaughnessy, in the first eighteen holes of the B.C. amateur final to-day. At the Vancouver Club's Burquitlam course, and was three up when they started on the last eighteen this afternoon. Wood was five up at the sixteenth, but Black rallied to take the next two and once more was within striking distance of his opponent.

Black, who is only seventeen years of age, was too cautious on the greens and underperformed after time. Wood was unsteady off the tee, but made up for this in his approach shots and in his putting.

Wood taking the lead on the third with a par 3 to Black's 4. Wood dubbed his second on the fourth to land in a trap. He was on with his third to lay Black, who had reached the green in 2. A perfect stroke. They halved the hole in fives. A birdie 3 sent Wood two up on the fifth. The sixth was halved in fives. Wood's lead was reduced when he pulled his tee shot out of bounds. He made a nice recovery for a par four, but Black holed out for birdie three after a long tee shot.

TWO UP AT TURN

The eighth was halved in four, but Wood won the ninth with a par four and was two up at the turn. The tenth was halved. The eleventh was a par four, but a par three on the twelfth (Concluded on Page 15)

Economist Delves Into the Phases of Industry Not Embroiled in Recommendations Declines to Discuss His Attitude on Grain Question

To resume work on phases of his report not yet submitted to the Provincial Government for the solution of the problems of the fruit industry in the interior of the province, W. Sanford Evans, commissioner appointed by the Tolmie administration to remedy the fruit situation, returned to Victoria Sunday from Winnipeg.

Since he was last on the coast Mr. Evans created a furor in the wheat belt when he announced that Britain was in the trenches on the grain question and simultaneously left the ranks of the Conservatives to become an independent in the Manitoba Legislature because of his opposition to his party's support of the Broken Government's blanket guarantee to the Wheat Pool.

SILENT ON GRAIN

When approached at the Empress Hotel to-day Mr. Evans politely but determinedly declined to discuss his attitude relative to the grain trade.

King Edward Stamps Now Outlawed

London, April 21.—Though few people may realize the fact, the Post Office is still handling postage franked with Edwardian stamps.

From now, however, no stamp bearing King Edward's august features will be regarded officially as valid, though owners of such issues may, until the end of next September, exchange them for Georgian ones.

The recipient of a letter stamped with the older issue will now be surcharged with the full postage.

Thus Edward the Peacemaker passes out of philatelic circulation, though we all have in our pockets current coins bearing not only Edwardian but Victorian effigies.

King George is the greatest living expert on Edwardian stamps, having both written a brochure on the subject and lectured on it to the Royal Philatelic Society.

GREAT THRONG AT SERVICE IN TERMINAL CITY

Estimated 13,000 Attended
Easter Sunrise Rites at English Bay

Sermon By Rev. Dr. J. S.
Henderson; Hymns Sung
By Multitude

Vancouver, April 21.—A warm sun shed its kindly rays over the vast concourse of people gathered on the sands of English Bay in devotional harmony at the sunrise service Sunday morning. As he told the simple story of Jesus' death and resurrection, the inspiration of the venerable pastor, Rev. Dr. James S. Henderson, was translated to the listening thousands.

Stillness fell over the multitude on the shore, the engines of automobiles were stopped and on the water, the splash of oar and paddle ceased. Only the songs of birds and the plash of wavelets on the shingle were heard above the words of the minister's message.

HYMNS SUNG
In the singing of the beautiful Easter hymns the whole great congregation of every creed and numerous faces joined, raising a concourse of sound which has never before been equalled in Vancouver. Throughout the multitude, estimated at 13,000, were scattered the choir members of St. Andrew's and Wesley churches and the whole was led by the National Juvenile Band.

Rev. W. H. Hincks, pastor of Wesley United Church, conducted the service, while Dr. Henderson delivered the message. Programmes and lists of hymns had been printed and distributed among the congregation.

During the service a collection for poor children of all denominations was taken up.

BRITAIN HAS CHILLY EASTER

London, April 21.—It was England's coldest and wettest Easter for a decade. Snow fell for two hours in Leicestershire and northern winds swept most parts of the country with an intensity in some cases approaching gale force. The seaside promenade spaces, usually so gay at this time of the year with the latest spring fashions and with springtime spirits abroad, are at present bleak, unrelieved stretches of mere asphalt and iron railings.

HEADMASTERS ARE VISITORS IN WINNIPEG

British Public School Leaders
Impressed by Vastness of Canada

Dr. Norwood of Harrow
Speaker at Canadian Club
Event

Winnipeg, April 21.—Impressed with the vastness of Canada and the hospitality of its people, the party of British public school headmasters touring the Dominion spent Sunday in Winnipeg.

Studying Canadian educational systems, the party, under the leadership of Dr. Cyril Norwood, headmaster of Harrow, who arrived in Winnipeg Saturday in advance of his colleagues, is en route to the Pacific Coast and last night left for Regina. The stay was purely social, but on the return journey the headmasters will stop here for a full day as the guests of local educationalists.

Most of the headmasters attended Easter service at All Saints' Church, where Dr. Norwood read the lessons. In the afternoon a reception was accorded the visitors by Prof. W. F. Osbourne of the University of Manitoba, and in the evening James H. Richardson entertained at dinner, which was attended by Lieut.-Governor J. D. McCree, Premier, Hon. Brocken, Hon. Robert Rogers and other city notables.

ADDRESS BY DR. NORWOOD
Dr. Norwood addressed the members of the Winnipeg Canadian Club Saturday. England was working toward a national system of education to prevent materialism, which, were such system followed in Canada and the United States, would save civilization, declared Dr. Norwood.

"We think we have got in England a very definite tradition of education which we do not want to lose," he said. "It is an education which is based on religion and aims at character rather than intellectual performance, pure and simple."

Dr. Norwood declared Russia had thrown itself into materialism—a danger in every industrialized society—and declared it to be the work of education throughout the English-speaking races to keep alive and dominate the older traditions.

First Fine For Radio Slander
In Illinois State

Chicago, April 21.—The verdict in the case of the State of Illinois against Fred Broucek was "guilty of slander by radio." It was the first suit of its kind since Illinois adopted a radio libel law in 1927. John J. Ehardt, police magistrate-elect of Berwyn, a suburb, charged Broucek, defeated candidate, with uttering slanderous and defamatory remarks in the campaign. Broucek offered no defence, but his counsel presented Harry Levinson, the sitting justice of the peace, with a new one, ponder over.

"Since Broucek made the remarks in Chicago, how can he be tried in Berwyn?" the defence asked.

The defence asked Levinson for a time, but he finally ruled that because of the other waves the damage to J. J. Ehardt's reputation was done in Berwyn as well as in Chicago and as justice of the peace in Berwyn he had jurisdiction.

Broucek was fined $10 and costs. Ehardt also has filed a $100,000 civil suit against the defeated candidate.

GUNMAN KILLS
THREE CHICAGO
SALOON MEN

Lone Murderer Escapes in Auto; Two of Victims
Racketeers

Chicago, April 21.—The quiet of Chicago's Easter morning was broken by a triple gangland execution. A lone gunman invaded the Blue Hour Saloon on the turbulent south side, shot down Frank Del Re, alias Frank Blue, thirty-three, Joseph Special, twenty-eight, co-proprietors of the place, and their bartender, Walter Wakefield, thirty. The assassin sped away in a machine without leaving a trace as to his identity, and only a mass of police conjecture as to his motive.

The records of the three slain men provided numerous reasons why they might have been removed from the underworld picture.

Del Re was listed at police headquarters as a bootlegger, racketeer, terrorist and all-around hoodlum. Special Del Re's brother-in-law, had a similar record, while Wakefield, an ex-drug clerk, was a minor character. Police believe the later was killed to seal his lips.

SALOON'S RECORD
The saloon where the shooting was done has long had a vicious reputation. A few years ago Jimmy Vincel, driver of the death car in the assassination of "Boss" Enright, labor leader, and Machine Gun Joe Granatta fought a death duel there. It was closed a while and then reopened by Del Re and Joe Genaro.

Genaro was badly wounded last January 29, and violated the gangland code by naming his assailants, James Dellacostro, Angelo Luccia and Louis Delluca.

The Del Re-Genaro partnership then dissolved and Del Re and Special reopened a week ago. The same night the front windows were shattered by bricks, and the word was passed around that the two had been told to move out of the district.

SUICIDE IN VANCOUVER

LINDBERGH'S FLIGHT ACROSS U.S. IS RECORD

He and Mrs. Lindbergh Land
Only Once Between California and New York.

Roosevelt Field, N.Y., April 21.—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh last night completed their experimental, one-stop high-altitude flight across the continent. They landed here at 11:11 o'clock, Eastern Standard time, beating Captain Frank M. Hawks' best time for non-stop west-east flight.

The flight was started from Glendale, Cal. The famous flier and his wife lopped three hours, sixteen minutes and six seconds off the record of seventeen hours, thirty-eight minutes, fifty-six seconds set by Capt. Hawks last June 29.

The crowd was well behaved as the colonel and his wife stepped from the plane. Lindbergh posed for photographers and answered questions of reporters.

The official landing time was announced by Walter D. Ward, official timer of the National Aeronautics Association, was 11:11:52 p.m., and the official elapsed flying time was fourteen hours, twenty-three minutes, seventeen seconds. The elapsed flying time does not take into account the twenty-two minutes and five seconds consumed in refuelling operations at Wichita, Kansas, the only stop.

On arrival here the colonel's face was dirty, tired and drawn. Mrs. Lindbergh, however, was smiling and apparently enjoying the excitement.

The ship, and two-place, low-winged open cockpit monoplane, is furnished with transparent enclosures that slide over the cockpit, practically transforming it into a cabin plane.

STARTED IN MORNING
Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh hopped off from the Grand Central Airport at Glendale, Calif., at 8:30 a.m. Eastern Standard time to-day.

They landed at Wichita, Kas., at 3:30:30 p.m. E.S.T., having traveled at 180 miles an hour to accomplish the 1,240 mile hop in six hours fifty-six minutes and ten seconds.

Maintaining an altitude usually over 10,000 feet, the plane was too high even in daylight hours for residents of towns over which it passed to see him.

The colonel's announced object was to obtain data from the flight which would be of use in transport and express plane passage across the continent at high altitudes.

BANDITS SWEEP LARGE AREA IN SOUTH CHINA

Shanghai, April 21.—A letter received here yesterday from a mission-ary in the besieged city of Kanchow, Kiangsi province, said a situation of anarchy prevailed in the district under a bandit regime engaging in wholesale carnage and plunder.

The letter said Reds who have besieged the city for weeks considered foreigners within the walls responsible for the strong resistance of Chinese soldiers. The bandits were quoted as promising to execute every foreigner in Kanchow "as soon as the city is captured."

While machine gunners and riflemen on the city's walls kept up a stubborn resistance, the bandits were described as dividing their time between the siege of the city and plundering of the countryside.

LANDOWNERS EXECUTED
The wealthy classes especially were said to have suffered from the bandits' hatred. In one village thirty-five landowners were shot as a warning to others to surrender their property without resistance.

Villages have been looted and many hostages, including numerous young women, kidnapped. Any of the latter were described as contemplating suicide when opportunity offered.

Foreign mission stations in South Kiangsi were attacked and the lands confiscated. Title deeds were destroyed after the missionaries had fled, and the captors organized communal governments, the missionary's letter said. An acute food shortage was predicted because the fields were not planted.

FUTURE IS BLACK
"It is only a matter of time until the entire south Kiangsi province is under government control," the letter concluded. "The future is indeed black."

Advices from Chekiang province said upwards of 20,000 bandits had overrun Chekiang-Anhui provincial borders, killing hundreds and exacting thousands of dollars from the people. Canton dispatches said Kwangtung bandits had, become so emboldened they were moving about as military units, capturing constantly increasing

THE ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

WHAT IS OFTEN FORGOTTEN IN A discussion of the proposal to deepen the St. Lawrence, so that large freighters from the seven seas may come right up to the head of the Great Lakes for our grain, is that either Canada must co-operate with the United States in the project or it cannot be undertaken at all. The St. Lawrence is an international waterway, and part of the navigable channel is on the United States side. Obviously, therefore, the work must be carried on by joint action.

The proposal now has taken on new importance to Canada through the action at Washington of the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors. That body recently passed a resolution calling upon Congress to take over the old Erie barge canal and the Illinois canal, with the object of improving these waterways, instead of contributing any money towards deepening the St. Lawrence. What body of public opinion in the neighboring country may support this proposal is not clear; but it is possible that Congress will seek this means of providing adequate water communication from the Great Lakes to the seaboard, all through American territory.

The effect upon Canadian transportation of independent action by the United States along these lines would be very important. Most of the enormous traffic of the Great Lakes would pass to the seaboard through either the Erie canal, which connects Lake Erie with the Hudson River, or the Illinois River, which connects Lake Michigan with the Mississippi. Both Canadian and American grain would use those routes, and Canada would suffer serious economic loss.

There is another important point that should be borne in mind. Recent events have shown that Canada cannot continue to increase her annual yield of wheat unless she may be assured of markets. Her capacity to sell in these markets—generally guaranteed by reason of the high quality of our wheat—will be governed more and more by the cost of transportation. The principal factor in the St. Lawrence plan is the promise of lower handling and shipping costs.

RADIO BROADCASTING

THE OTTAWA CITIZEN, WHICH IS A vigorous advocate of a national radio broadcasting system for Canada, points out that whatever is done with the radio service, it will not remain as it is now. It must either be operated under public ownership or pass into the hands of private monopoly. Under private ownership, the Citizen contends, it will be gradually merged into the United States system of radio enterprise, just as the moving picture industry has been absorbed into the United States system, and small stations will be swallowed up.

Our Ottawa contemporary claims broadcasting in the United States is very defective, but says that so many people in Canada have been led to believe that the United States is the greatest country in the world that they think they are getting the best in broadcasting when they listen to United States stations, or to Canadian stations that act as importing agencies for American radio advertising.

Many public leaders in the United States are dissatisfied with the broadcasting service in their country. Governor Roosevelt of New York State gave an interview to The Citizen's correspondent in Washington expressing the view that Canada would be far better served by establishing national ownership as it is recommended in the Aird report.

Lee de Forest, president of the United States Institute of Radio Engineers, recently spoke of American broadcasting as follows: "As the so-called 'Father of Radio Broadcasting,' I wish again to raise my voice in most earnest protest against this revolting state of affairs. The present all-too-marked tendency of the broadcast chains, and of many individual stations to lower their bars to the greed of direct advertising, will rapidly work to sap the life-blood and destroy the greatest usefulness of this magnificent new means of contact which we engineers have so laboriously toiled to uphold and to perfect.

"In all seriousness, I attribute a part of the present undeniable slackening in radio sales to the public as actually due to this pernicious advertising. The radio public is, I believe, becoming nauseated by the quality of many of the present programmes. Short-sighted greed of the broadcasters, station owners and advertising agencies is slowly killing the broadcasting goose, layer of many golden eggs.

"Too long has this perilous situation continued without earnest protest from our organization. We members of this institute must be jealous of its good name, regardless of a wise supervision of this broadcast institution. We should, I maintain, take active steps to get rid of the stupid avarice which is killing the most splendid and potent means of entertainment, culture and education which mankind has yet devised.

"If we anticipate the day of the international broadcast, when American programmes are interchanged with those from Europe, you may rest assured that any foreign programmes of high-class music will be withheld in this country in preference to much of the stuff which American audiences are now compelled to hear.

"This factor, the international broadcast, is at hand. The sterling work of radio-communication engineers the world over in the fascinating field of short-wave transmission is rapidly bringing it to pass. And this development will eventually mean mutual acquaintanceship among peoples; international amity, an end of war, and finally the blessings of one common tongue.

Under the independent national system as recommended in the Aird report, it would be possible for Canada to take part in this international exchange of broadcasting on an independent, self-respecting basis.

By leaving radio in Canada as it is, Canada's place in the international radio field would be subordinate to that of the United States. Canadian radio listeners would have only what the private controllers of broadcasting, with headquarters in the United States, deem profitable to send over the all-American chain. Canada certainly should stand upon her own feet in the matter of radio broadcasting, and the best way in which this can be done is to adopt the recommendations of the Aird Commission for a public-controlled system.

THE TIME TO ADVERTISE

BUSINESS HOUSES SHOULD NOT only maintain their appropriations for advertising and research during the present depression, but should expand them prudently "as prospects warrant," declares Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, in the current issue of the J. Walter Thompson Company's Bulletin in Washington.

"Advertising is inherently constructive, acting as a powerful stimulus to every branch of activity," says Dr. Klein. "It not only keeps goods moving—it inspires confidence. Will is a priceless business attribute, but it is one that may wane and drop under the veering winds of public opinion. Advertising can keep it sturdy and upstanding."

There is a bit of advice worth the attention of every businessman. Prosperity will only return when all hands work for it. Advertising is one of the best tools available.

OVERWORKING A PHRASE

SEVERAL PROMINENT UNITED States newspapers are speculating upon the effect of Mrs. R. H. McCormick's success in capturing the Republican nomination for senator for Illinois. She conducted her campaign on a single issue—opposition to the republic's adherence to the World Court of International Justice, and she carried the state by a majority of something like 200,000. But it is freely predicted that although she won the primaries on this issue, she will try to get elected on the prohibition question, she being an ardent "dry" and her opponent an enthusiastic "wet."

Mrs. McCormick has been described by a large section of the United States press as "our most accomplished woman politician and vote-getter." It is obvious at this distance that she has ample capacity for political strategy, for a campaign against the World Court would succeed nowhere in the republic if not in Illinois, with Chicago still nursing its anti-European complex. Her majority in that city alone, incidentally, was no less than 150,000. But the less extreme sections of the press, as The Seattle Times puts it, seem to be getting tired of being told that the World Court is "a back door for the entry into the League of Nations." Our contemporary across the Sound thinks this is a very much overworked expression, and observes in part:

The isolationists in the United States Senate have used it with telling effect, and it has become a catch phrase with the unthinking and the uninformed. In an obscure way it creates the thought that we may wake up some morning to find ourselves in the League, whereas we intended only to support an institution that would save the world from future wars.

Advocates of the League of Nations would be glad if the effect of our adherence to the Court would be what the isolationists say it would be. But it would be nothing of the sort. By adhering to the Court we shall assume no obligation to the League. We shall not enter by the back door, front door or window. We shall merely give our assent and approval to an institution which provides the machinery for settling international disputes, as we now settle disputes between individuals, according to law and justice. The Court would not bring us as close to the League as our attendance at the numerous conferences of that association of nations.

This is the view which thoughtful citizens of the United States take of this matter. They know also that every President for the last thirty years has favored the formation of just such a tribunal as the World Court. But in many countries there still remains the tendency at times to put political expediency before the interest of the public at large.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

WOMEN SENATORS

"Leit-Or" In The Daily Chronicle

Now that Canada has a woman senator, the bitter cry of the British press, who hold their titles in their own right, and who are excluded from the House of Lords, is sure to become louder. They claim that there is no law which keeps them out because of their sex, and it is probable they will make their next attempt through the courts, as the Canadian women did. Hitherto they have appealed to the lords to admit them. Now they are meditating a more aggressive move.

THE NEW BIOGRAPHY

The London Advertiser

James Truslow Adams, in Current History, disputes the claim that the new school of biography represents truth as opposed to fiction. There is fiction or imagination in the new biographies also. "When, for instance," Lytton Strachey, the unquestioned leader of this school of biography, recounts the thoughts that passed through Queen Elizabeth's mind as she is getting fiction as pure and undefiled as anything Thackeray tells us about Becky Sharp. A school of writers vastly inferior to Strachey has sprung up, he says, and they are chiefly engaged in writing what was merely biographical notes. In some of these, it is said, truth is distorted. A biography of Franklin scarcely mentions his elaborate plan for a union of the colonies, but devotes five pages to a trivial and disagreeable incident.

GREAT DIVIDE MARKER REMOVED

The Natural Resources, Canada

The monument at the summit of the Kicking Horse Pass marking the Great Divide of the Rockies, familiar to all travelers by the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has recently been taken down by the company and re-erected upon a new site several feet further west. From early surveys it was believed that the previous site marked the actual height of land, but during the detailed survey of the boundary between Alberta and British Columbia, carried out by the Interprovincial Boundary Commission, more accurate data were obtained which necessitated a number of changes in the delimitation of the watershed. Among these was the summit of the Kicking Horse Pass.

The new Kicking Horse highway from Lake Louise to Field, which links the Banff and Yoho National Parks, also passes within a short distance of this point, although at a higher level. The national parks branch of the Department of the Interior proposes to try out a small landscape development adjacent to both highway and monument and to restore the natural character of the tiny stream which here divides, one branch taking its way to the water of the Pacific Ocean and the other to the Atlantic.

Loose Ends

The gentleman of Hutchinson, Kansas, revolt—the patriots of Poland ask permission to shoot parliament—Mrs. Reed slaps once too often—and a great new art is in the making.

By H. B. W.

THOSE WHO think the world is growing duller are paying too much attention to the larger, less important events, and too little to the smaller, more significant occurrences. If they would watch the little, obscure things which really matter they would realize that the world grows madder and more charming every day. To prove it, I have just collected four little whips of news from the four corners of the earth, which are quite delightful.

IN HUTCHINSON, KANSAS, the unhappy husbands of bridge-playing wives have organized a Bridge Widowers' League which meets at dinner on Thursday evenings at the homes of members when the wives are all at bridge parties. You will say that this is historically unimportant, that it gets the bridge widowers nowhere and merely saves their wives cooking the dinner. But you are wrong. The bridge widowers cook the dinner, it is true, but here is the important thing: they leave the dishes for the wives to wash when they come home. Thus the husbands are showing the first effective instinct of self-preservation which their species has displayed in the present century. In the long march of evolution this is important indeed.

FROM POLAND comes the second item. It says that Dictator Pilsudski has just made a speech bitterly attacking the Polish Sejm, or parliament, which he created. The members of this parliament are so utterly hopeless, says Dictator Pilsudski, that many people have asked his permission to shoot them. Then follows this delightful bit: When Dictator Pilsudski refused these patriots permission to shoot the Polish parliament, they immediately went out and committed suicide! There is a new conception of a citizen's duty which we in this country cannot approach. If they are not allowed to shoot parliament, the devoted Poles shoot themselves! Patriotism can go no further and the result is about the same either way.

THE THIRD significant item comes from the village of Elbogen near Prague. There a widow was told by a spiritualistic medium that her husband was in hell and suffering greatly. That same night came an uncanny knocking at the front door and it opened to disclose a veiled and black-clad figure, who announced himself as Satan. Satan asked to be admitted to the house as in Wall Street, as the visitor offered to release the soul of the widow's husband for the reasonable sum of $30. The widow, considering it a bargain, agreed and went immediately to draw $30 from the bank. The bank officials told the police and when the devil appeared to collect his fee the police arrested him. Beneath his dark garments neither horns, hoofs nor tail was found, but instead the form and lineaments of the local paperhanger, who was also a member of the widow's spiritualistic circle.

THE FOURTH exhibit comes from Scarborough, England. There Mrs. Martha Boston-Smith asked Mrs. George Reed whether she would like some tea. "Certainly I'd like tea!" cried Mrs. George Reed, and amid general laughter, slapped her hostess on the back with such enthusiasm that Mrs. Boston-Smith sued her for damages.

The blow, while not malicious, was quite outside the common use of social intercourse," the Hull County Council ruled solemnly and awarded damages of $335. What kind of a blow would be inside the common use of social intercourse was not indicated by the court, and the well-bred guest at a party will have to strike first and take the consequences later. The well-bred hostess, on the other hand, should serve tea without question and without provoking assault from her well-bred guests. Meanwhile, in the face of such occurrences, who can doubt the enduring vigor of our race, and the continual interest of our world?

THE UNITED STATES says a misleading public announcement, last year spent $1,900,000,000 on cosmetics and $250,000,000 on Fine Art. Obviously the announcement should have stated that the United States spent $2,050,000,000 on Fine and Finer Art, for the use of cosmetics is the great universal art of our time. High-brows will shake their heads at these figures, deploring a nation which devotes seven times as much to its face as to fine pictures for its homes, but this is a narrow, foolish view. The historical mind will perceive at once that it is far more important to have 60,000,000 women easy to look at on the street than to fill the homes of the rich with art objects. Better good-looking faces that can be seen than good-looking pictures looked away out of sight.

THE ART of cosmetics, it is true, is still in its infancy. You must give the ladies more time to develop the painting of faces into a talent comparable to the painting of landscapes. Now, encouraging it is, however, to note the progress which this art has made in the last few years! Just as painters found early in the work that they must not paint things exactly as they were, because this produced only a flat, photographic effect, so your modern female artist has discovered that she must get away from mere naturalism. No longer are cosmetics restricted behind the old fetters of Victorian times, when a woman who painted took good care that no one suspected it, seeking to make her timidly-tinted cheek ap-

IN OUR time such old-fashioned and quaint notions happily are forgotten, and no one attempts to make the face appear human. Indeed, some of the masterpieces to be observed on the streets of our own city have achieved such an inhuman aspect that it is hard to recognize them as belonging to our species. When they can make such rapid progress as this along really artistic lines, the women of our day may be expected in the fullness of time to develop an art which will dwarf all the older forms of ordinary painting and decoration. It is a real People's Art, this, free to all who care to look, and so universal that no man who walks the streets can escape its edifying influence and high cultural value even if he should wish to. Give the new artists of the new art time and they will yet develop it to the height already reached, through generations of experience, by the aborigines of many wild countries, where the human countenance has become a canvas on which some of the most stirring pictures of all time have been painted. So far it has been timid and hesitant, influenced too much by our grandmothers' ideas of preserving some resemblance to the undesirable human physiognomy. Give it yet a little time and the female countenance which we have known will belong only to history.

REER

To the Editor:—From time to time we hear disparaging remarks made about the beer parlors in Esquimalt, sometimes from men on the street and sometimes from our learned friends the prohibitionists through the medium of the press. Please allow me to contradict statements made by these people in regard to the drunkenness prevalent in these places and the unsanitary condition of same.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, April 21, 1905

The second day of the Victoria Kennel Club's annual show promises to exceed the first in point of attendance to a considerable extent.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity, southerly winds, fair and warm during the day.

Steamer Tees will go north on Saturday evening under the command of Captain Locke, formerly of the steamer Danube.

The special committee of the city council, appointed at the meeting on Monday evening, waited upon Manager A. T. Goward of the B.C. Electric Railway Company yesterday to inquire what the latter was prepared to do towards extending the tramway line to the cemetery this year.

The Hudson's Bay Company's steamer Mount Royal, which left this port on April 14, reached Port Esquimalt last evening.

G. Collins, traveling passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific, is quoted as saying: "A plan to include Bellingham on the run of the Princess Victoria is being considered, and may be carried out if we find the business in the field will warrant the venture."

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McMillan, 148 Cormorant Street, was the scene of a happy event last evening, when two popular young Victorians were united in wedlock. The principals were Mr. Elwood Charles Watkins of the well-known firm of Hooper and Watkins, architects, and Miss Lillian Nesbitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Nesbitt of Victoria West. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. K. Adams, pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Cleaver of Toronto.

flag and the two languages are equally misleading. South Africa, like the other dominions, including Canada, has a local flag. This flag symbolizes more than your correspondent has evidently had time to notice. The centre emblem includes the Union Jack in the top left-hand corner, the Cape Colony and Natal in the top right-hand corner, and the Transvaal and the Orange Free State completes the two lower spaces. In addition, he has failed to state, if he is aware of the fact, that it is laid down that the Union Jack and the local flag shall fly side by side on public buildings.

Now, as regards the Dutch being in the ascendancy. We, in South Africa, are forgetting to talk about "English" and "Dutch," particularly those of us on both sides who bore arms against each other. It is usually the non-combatants on both sides who keep up the feud and encourage racialism. To mention one important instance typifying this feeling of co-operation, General Hartog's son, who graduated from Cambridge, has recently married the daughter of a colonel in the British Army who resides in Johannesburg.

The magnanimity of the British Government towards the Boers after the Boer War, construed at the time to be more consideration for the late enemy than ourselves, was resented by us then, but is having its effect to-day and the spirit of the British race is winning through, as it will in all the parts of the British Empire if we emulate the old doctrine of example being better than precept and remain true to our national characteristics and ideals. The further statements by your correspondent that "the Dutch are having their way a lot, and they have insisted that all public notices shall be printed in both Dutch and English," is a danger lies in such misleading statements being served up in another Dominion where they might go unchallenged. I therefore trust you will publish this reply for the information of your readers.

It is safe to say that if your corre-

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Sometimes a statement sounds so startling that one refuses to accept its truthfulness. A young mother found herself unable to take at its face value the statement of her neighbor that a well child never contracts diseases. She says: "I am trying to rear my children in the best possible manner. Lately I have nursed them through a mild attack of measles. My neighbor said that because she gave so much time and attention to her daughter that she was too healthy to acquire any of these childish diseases. She said they cannot be contracted by a child in good physical condition. Is this true, Mrs. Eldred?"

HEALTHY CHILDREN SUCCUMB TOO

This is superficially true, but no one is in a position to say any child is so healthy that he never will contract diseases if brought into actual contact with them. It is better to steer clear of them. Likewise, it is no criticism of a mother's good care if her child does succumb to them. The child was at that moment in a position to take them. Even apparently healthy children do.

We believe it is a duty of the mother to keep her child in the best possible condition all the time—free from physical abnormalities which hamper him, opportunity to have fresh air and sunshine and exercise, given a diet that takes into account the necessity for all the various food elements and vitamins which we know will add to the child's ability to battle with disease successfully.

SICKLY CHILD EASY VICTIM

We do know that the child who has constant colds and coughs all winter, whose muscles are feeble and toneless, whose actions are those of constant fatigue, who is overweight or underweight, fretful and whiny may not be suffering from any particular disease, but he is not a healthy child and would be the poorest possible risk if brought into contact with disease. His chances of taking it and having the disease severely would certainly be far greater than the healthy child.

Meanwhile, we shouldn't be so cocksure about our children's health as to put them in a position to pick up contagious diseases, no matter how healthy we may think they are. All sick children should be kept away from other children, for even just a cold may develop into something far more serious.

PREVENTIVES IMPORTANT

The medicines of the future are preventives and we have to-day two well-known and widely-used preventives—smallpox vaccinations and diphtheria immunizations. This latter is now almost as much a part of good child care as smallpox vaccinations have been. It is a simple procedure, lacking in any danger, and without discomfort to the child. Diphtheria immunization is done the first or second year of baby's life, and always before going to school. Up to seven years diphtheria is a serious, often fatal, disease. After that the child develops an increasing immunity up to adulthood, when it is not often contracted even though exposure takes place. Of course, these statements are to be taken as general and not specific.

COUNTESS SUE FOR TICKETS FOR CHARITY BALL

Lady Mayo and Lady Edward Spencer-Churchill in Piquant Situation

A piquant situation was created between two leading society women in England recently when the Countess of Mayo of Monycrover, Maidenhead, Berkshire, was sued at Windsor County Court by Lady Edward Spencer-Churchill for £4 4s, the cost of two tickets for a ball last June in aid of the King Edward VII Hospital, Windsor.

Lady Edward Spencer-Churchill, widow of a son of the sixth Duke of Marlborough, lives at Queensmead, Windsor.

Lady Edward said she had taken the proceedings to warn charitable institutions not to part with tickets for entertainments or balls without first receiving the money.

The action was not defended. An order was made for payment in fourteen days.

Lady Edward, who was chairman of the ball committee, said to a reporter that she frequently asked for the money for the tickets before taking action.

SUCH GOOD FRIENDS
Lady Mayo, when interviewed, said: "We have been such good friends. The money relates to tickets which I sold for the ball. I did not pay the money in immediately, and it was sheer thoughtlessness on my part that it was not paid."

"I received the county court summons six weeks ago, but overlooked it owing to the pressure of public duties. I do not wish to bring anyone else into

THE SPORTS MIRROR

BOAT-AGAINST-BOAT racing will be arranged for the tests of the America's Cup defense yachts to determine which one of the four boats built shall be chosen as the defender to meet Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V. During the observation races in July and actual trials in August the boats will be paired in a sort of round robin, but without a definite result of the survival of the fittest as far as windings are concerned. Many things are taken into consideration in the actual international races, will be match affairs, boat against boat.

In the opinion of the cup committee of the New York Yacht Club, which will select the defender, it has been felt that to race the four boats in a free-for-all against one another would create a condition in which the true merits of the craft would be jumbled and most difficult to observe.

So during the observation contests from July 7 to July 19, and in the trials from August 20 to August 30, the defending candidates will be paired off. For instance, Westmore and Yankee will meet and Enterprise and Whirlwind will contest. One pair will be started fifteen minutes after the first. All of them will sail over the cup courses off Newport, and there will be no restriction against one of the later starters gaining the fifteen minutes in the thirty miles over the first part way, should she be capable of it. But she must be sure to beat the boat she started with. The whole idea is for boat competition.

Resolute, the last defender, and her rival, Yankee, are to be made ready for these races, and if the Whirlwind and the Yankee, the two new Boston-built boats, enter, there will be one of the cup courses off Newport, and there will be no restriction against one of the later starters gaining the fifteen minutes in the thirty miles over the first part way, should she be capable of it. But she must be sure to beat the boat she started with. The whole idea is for boat competition.

Because of the narrowness of Long Island Sound, the cup yachts will be sent off to the eastward and back if the wind permits. They probably will be given a twenty-mile course of five miles to windward and return, if feasible, or a triangular one of twenty-two and one-half miles with seven and one-half miles to each leg.

In the international races in September the U.S. Coastguard will patrol the course, and it may aid in the defense leads in July and August to keep two-venturesome craft away.

Models of the four defence candidates show the placing of the lead keels at the bow. The Enterprise is a typical best in the Yankee and the Westmore. The Westmore has almost a straight line from her bow down to her rudder post. The Enterprise is a modification of this, and the Whirlwind has the longest keel, with almost a horizontal depth. None has the deep fin of the Reliance, which was virtually a sailing ship, and pendulum under a shallow hull. Resolute was a step in advance in the attaining of a wholesome hull.

The stern of the Whirlwind is pointed as well as her bow, like a canoe. She is what is called a double-ender. Sharp stern overhand is to fasten a permanent backstay to her lowering mast, and the Whirlwind will have the longest sailing length.

Flat decks of all four, with lack of sheer, are striking features. The Enterprise, in particular, is almost as flat on deck as a pancake.

While there is considerable variance in their hulls, there will not be so much in their sail plans, unless one or another attempts a single headsail rig. Some will have less canvas, for it will be two smaller boats—Westmore and Enterprise—with a lot of sail, and two larger ones—Whirlwind and Yankee—with less, having to reduce their rigs somewhat under the more turbulent tide to make up for their bulk.

From a glance at her hull one gathers the impression that Westmore, with her clear-cut lines, will be very fast or fall. Enterprise, with perhaps the most normal hull of all, is expected to be dressed with a big rig, and the Whirlwind, with an embodiment of the skill of Nat Herreshoff, his son having designed her, is the largest. Yankee is the beamiest craft and the heaviest of all. If she can go to light weather, she surely can in a breeze.

In that connection, Frank C. Paine showed an unselfish and sporting spirit when he designed Yankee. He decided that he did not want to create any light-weight or drifting craft; that might win the trial races and be chosen as the defender and then be beaten in the international contests should a blow be encountered then. With the contests against Shamrock V in mind, he built a boat practically certain to go in heavy weather, and took a chance of her out-traveling the other defence craft in light airs.

Atlantic City, N.J., April 21.—When they left the U.S. for the Canadiens displayed world's championship form, and they opened the throttle wide to bury the Ottawa all-stars, cream of the National Hockey League, under a 11-6 score Saturday night on the Atlantic City auditorium ice.

An audience of some 6,000, many of them decked out in evening clothes, turned out to the post-game, and by out-scoring the Ottawa club 15-6 in the two-game series which terminated Saturday night, the flying Frenchmen hopped off with the $10,000 prize for the team piling up the most points.

Pete Leptine and Alex Smith split high individual scoring laurels with three each.

GRADS ARE BRILLIANT IN VICTORY

Dominion Girls' Basketball Champions Swamp Toronto Lakesides 47-17

Eastern Champions Falter in Second Half of First Game For Canadian Title

Edmonton, Alta., April 21.—Unless the biggest basketball upset in the history of the game takes place tonight, the Edmonton Grads are certain of retaining their honors of Dominion girls' champions. Saturday, the Grads playing right to the top of their most brilliant form, swamped the Toronto Lakesides by a score of 47-17, and that thirty-point margin looks like a barrier much too big to be overcome.

For half of this game the eastern title holders made things very interesting for their famous rivals. At the end of the first quarter they had the distinction of being out in front, 11-8, something that hasn't often been done against the Grads, and at the half-way mark they were behind only by two points, 19-17.

BRILLIANT ATTACK
Prospects of the score being close at the finish vanished into thin air shortly after the start of the second half when the Grads, sensing that their opponents had turned themselves out by their efforts earlier on, unleashed an attack that carried everything before it. Working in close under the basket on a bewildering system of combination, the Grads ran rings around the Lakesides to pile up twenty-six points without a return of any kind against them.

Gladys Fry, rangy Grad center, ruined the effectiveness of the visitors by holding Innes Bramley, rated the best centre in the east, scoreless, while collecting sixteen points for herself.

Superior condition told the story. The Grads matched the fastest pace the Lakesides could set in the first half, and then demonstrated that they could keep going just as fast in the second half when their opponents weakened visibly.

Fighting Finish Of Adanacs Land Them In Final

British Columbia Basketball Champions Fight Great Odds to Nose Out Winnipeg Toilers 20-17 in Second Game of Western Finals; Win Series by Two Points; Doug Fraser Is Hero of Last Game With Two Sparkling Baskets in Dying Moments; Wally Mayers Brilliant.

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, April 21.—By a last-minute flourish, lanky Doug Fraser Saturday night marshalled his fighting New Westminster Adanacs into the Canadian basketball final. Two sparkling goals by the Coastmen's curly-haired guard and captain, just before the last gong clanged, lifted the 1929 Dominion champs ahead of Winnipeg Toilers and gained them a two-point victory on a two-game series total.

By 17-16, the Toilers, champions of Manitoba, had won the series opener. Through all but the waning moments of the second match, Toilers refused to be headed. Twice the British Columbia quint struggled upward to a tie-score on the round, only to be pushed again behind. Then, as the last minutes ticked away, the Adanacs surged on to win by 20-17. They snatched the round by total score of 36-34.

WOOD WINS EASILY
"Well, Bon, I guess I'm not the worst putter in the world," Morrison laughingly remarked as he sympathized with the player who had eliminated him. Morrison's defeat practically at his own hands.

A GREAT FINISH
Only the Toilers, who entered the western final by conquering in Manitoba and outscoring the Thunder Bay winners, were able to force a temporary halt in the Adanacs' rush. After taking a one-point lead in the series started at Winnipeg, Toilers added another six points of edge before the second match was well under way. At half-time, the Winnipeg quint led by 9 to 6, but the margin fell away before the Adanacs' fighting finish.

Though Capt. Fraser's last half, brilliant thrust aside defeat, it was Chubby Wally Mayers, meteoric B.C. forward, who ushered his mates out of a ten-minute lull. The dashy southpaw glided on to the floor when the Toilers were ahead by 9-3, and before the interval had counted a field goal and a foul to halve the Manitoba's advantage. Another field goal at the start of the second half completed Mayers' scoring budget for the night, and set the score of 8-3, but the coastmen had been placed within reach of victory.

Where Mayers left off, Fraser took up the task. The Adanacs' leader, who had so buoyed himself at guard that he scored but a single point in the first half, potted three baskets in the second period to lead the night's scoring with seven points. Rangi MacShane, all but disabled with a bad knee, sank a pair of deadly long shots.

JOKERS PROVE EASY WINNERS

Score 6-2 Victory Over Victoria City Eleven in Final For Peden Cup

For the next twelve months the Peden Cup will rest in the locker room of the Jokers, First Division football club, as a result of their splendid 6-2 victory over Victoria City in the final at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. The city were defending the trophy they won last year.

The Jokers, on their exhibition Saturday, were far the better team, but no doubt the city players were weary through having to play two matches on successive days. In the first ten minutes of the game the City passed up a grand chance to go into the lead when Glancy's shot hit the upright. The Jokers took up the attack from the goal kick and scored their first goal when Neilson headed home a fine centre by Nelson at left wing. The Jokers made it 2-0 a few minutes later, McKewen heading home another of Nelson's fine crosses. Just before half-time the City managed to break into the scoring column, Glancy taking a pass from Burns to beat Robertson.

NEWCOMER SCORES PAIR
The Jokers' third goal early in the second half came when Claude Biessell drove the leather into his own net in attempting to clear. Archie Campbell booted home the Jokers' fourth goal, and before full-time arrived Hallman, formerly of Ladysmith, making his first appearance with the Jokers, booted home a pair of goals. The City's second goal was scored by Burns just before the final whistle.

WOODLEY REFERRED
The teams were as follows:
Jokers — Robertson, McKenble, Bobby, McKay, Banks, Martin; Campbell, Stevens, McKewen, Hallman and Nelson.
Victoria City — Abbott, Margison, Gibbons, Stophor, Bowman, Bassell, Gould, Burns, Southern, Glancy and Sherry.

Curtain Falls On Soccer Season For Scottish Elezens

Final Matches Spoiled by Wintry Weather; Rangers, League Champions, in Miserable Defeat at Hands of Airdrie; Celtic Finishes in Blaze of Glory; Much-awaited Rehearsal Between English Cup Finalists Is Failure Owing to Heavy Rain and Waterlogged Grounds.

Canadian Press
Glasgow, Scotland, April 21.—The Scottish soccer season closed on Saturday, the last matches being played in almost wintry weather. Added to the cold there was a high wind, which militated against good football. Rangers, league champions, would up with a miserable defeat at the hands of Airdrie, but Celtic finished in a blaze of glory, defeating Kilmarnock by 4-0. Aberdeen whitewashed Queen's Park, while in another of the feature matches Partick Thistle nosed out St. Mirren by the odd goal out of five.

Victoria Maple Leafs Defeat Nanaimo South End 1-0 in Replayed Match

Jack Okell Scores Only Goal of Game; Locals Meet Mainland Champions

Jack Okell's goal early in the second half gave the Victoria Maple Leafs a 1-0 victory over Nanaimo South End at the Royal Athletic Park Saturday afternoon and with the win went the Vancouver Island under sixteen juvenile football championship. Saturday's match was a replay of a previous drawn game in Nanaimo two weeks ago.

The local youngsters will now oppose Nanaimo in the provincial final for the Provincial Cup, with fine chances of bringing the British Columbia championship to this city. In Saturday's match Nanaimo had the best of the play on both halves, but they failed to take advantage of their chances to score. Victoria broke away on fast rushes many times, but for the greater part of the game the ball was in the locals' half of the field. In the first half play was inclined to be slow with both teams playing a strong defensive game. Both goalies had a number of fast shots to save, but half-time arrived with no scoring.

OKELL SCORES
The second half had just got under way when Okell banged home what proved to be the winning goal. Victoria continued on the offensive for short time, but Nanaimo soon carried the play down the field and the Leafs' back division was given a busy time. Nanaimo fought three corners in the first half, but the Leafs' defence held. Towards the end of the match the Upland champions had every play but their going on the attack, but they were unable to get home the goal to tie up the count.

THE TEAMS WERE AS FOLLOWS:
South End — Watson, McGlenen, Squire, Emerick, Peifers, Coe, Robinson, Galahar, Hopkiss, McDougall and Hodgson.
Victoria — Stewardson, Murie, Graves, Esler, Lund, Douglas, Okell, Fraser, Holmes, Payne and Campbell.

LOCAL OARSMEN PROSPECTS FOR MAINLAND CREWS

Brian Hunnings and Frank Mathews Trying For Vancouver Senior Four

Former Victoria oarsmen appear to be shaping up well for places in the crack shells of the Vancouver Rowing Club, according to early reports received from the Mainland. Brian Hunnings, member of the N.P.A.O. champion junior four from the J.B.A.A. has tried out for a place in the senior quartet for the territorial City club and appears to have a fair chance of making the grade. Frank Mathews, who rowed three in the Broomfield, which won the Victoria four honors at the big regatta last year, is taking a seat in the same boat, while Clive McConnan who started his rowing here is coupled with Charlie Grey in one of the strongest lightweight doubles the club has ever possessed.

Besides these, Eddie Speed club captain, has a wealth of new material, as well as many of the veterans who have upheld the V.R.C.'s honors in previous meets.

Frank Adams, former coast champion in the single scull, was expected to add to the strength of the club. Doug Forth, a former University of British Columbia crew man, was also expected to add to the strength of the club. Yankees Are Tossed For Fourth Straight Loss

Lose To Senators Who Are Proving League Surprise

Lloyd Brown, Washington's New Pitching Find, Twirls His Second Victory of Season and Is Only Pitcher to Go Two Full Games and Win Both; Athletics Win Third Straight; Mel Ott's Home Run Gives Giants Win Over Phillies in Close Game; Cubs Just Able to Nose Out Cincinnati.

Washington Senators have taken a place in the front rank of the major teams which have started the year by upsetting some of the baseball "dope" and one good reason for their good showing so far is found in Lloyd Brown, big left-handed pitcher.

Brown is the only major league hurler to pitch two full games so far this year and win them both. He held the Boston Red Sox to three hits last Tuesday and yesterday scored his second triumph by downing the New York Yankees, 6-3. The triumph put the Senators in a tie for second place in the American League.

Yankees, losing their fourth straight game, sent Sam Byrd in to replace Allen Cooke in the outfield, but the change brought no improvement.

Of the pitchers appearing on the mound for the second time at the start of yesterday's six games, only Young Willis Hudlin of Cleveland and old George Uhle of Detroit both went nine innings in a fine duel, and Cleveland nosed out a 2-0 victory. A pinch double, with the bases full, off Burnett gave Hudlin yesterday's game.

SENATORS WIN
Philadelphia Athletics scored their third successive victory by bunting five hits off Dan MacFayden in one inning and downing the Boston Red Sox 5-3. Ed Rommel, who started for the world's champions, had to give way to Jack Quinn.

The New York and Philadelphia National League clubs, which have started out as if to revive the title of "hitless wonders," staged another close duel yesterday, Giants winning by a 1-0 count. Carl Hubbell held the Phillies to four hits, two of them by Tommy Thoenow, while the Giants reached "Old Pete" Alexander for the greater part of the game, but still it took a home run by Mel Ott to win the game. A similar battle between the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds marked the remaining National League struggle.

The Cubs won 4-3, after Cincinnati had scored three runs in one inning off Fred Blake.

One game in each league suffered the fate of being rained out.

AMATEUR NIGHT FRIDAY

THREE KILLED IN AUTO SMASH

Ontario, Calif., April 21.—Three persons, all of Los Angeles, lost their lives and two were seriously injured as the result of an automobile accident three miles east of here yesterday. Mrs. George M. Bennett was instantly killed and George Bennett, forty, her husband, and Rose Mary Wasserman, seven, died in a hospital here following the accident. Bennett, who was at the wheel, drove into an oil truck. In another collision, several miles farther east, two women and a baby, probably were injured fatally.

SCOTLAND SCENE OF PICTURE

Cohens and Kellys Visit Land of Bagpipes and Tartan

Latest Sidney and Murray
Comedy Showing at Capitol

The latest Cohen-and-Kelly all-talking picture will be seen and heard at the Capitol Theatre all this week with more laughs than there are Scotch jokes. "The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland" is the fourth and funniest of Universal's hilarious series involving the adventures of the two best-loved and laughed-at filmland families. Cohen and Kelly, whose adventures in New York, Paris and London have tickled millions, ignorant of one another's plans across the Atlantic to the land of the bagpipes with designs upon the plaid business. Kilt-lad and comical, they stumble into a host of uproarious experiences culminating in the determination to commit suicide because their fortunes have been lost. How this works out is the comedy high-spot of the production. Mrs. Cohen and Mrs. Kelly, of course, add to the difficulties of the droll partners. "The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland" again unites the original Cohen and Kelly, George Sidney and Charlie Murray, who celebrate their reunion by topping all their previous efforts.

The play is a man of wealth and position, apparently a shining example of virtue and propriety, is eventually revealed in his true colors as a crook. The plot moves forward with lots of action from one tense situation to another. Rolton Parker is the hero and Lorus Bagley will be seen in a role that provides sparkling comedy. Ruth Albright, Phil Keefer and Leon Cluff round out the all-star cast.

Three-act Comedy

"Toby on the Spot" Is Production By Leitch Company
This Week

"Toby on the Spot," a three-act comedy drama, will be the offering of the Toby Leitch Players at the Variety Theatre all this week. This brilliant play has been a great success in other cities and it is expected that the talented local company will find it a vehicle to further their laurels here. Raymond Toby Leitch is the star in a superlatively funny role. Ledne Weber appears in the leading feminine role as a New York girl of the working class.

George Jessel In
Starring Role Of
Playhouse Film

"Love, Live and Laugh" Is Title of Pathetic Picture

George Jessel, starring in "Love, Live and Laugh," Fox Movietone all-talking drama, makes his bow at the Playhouse Theatre to-day.

The popular stage star of "Jazz Singer" and "The War Song," has the role of an Italian immigrant who leaves his sweetheart to return to Italy when his father is near death. He is caught up by the war, and lands in a hospital, badly injured and blinded.

His sweetheart, made that his entire company has been killed, and later marries a doctor in a hospital where she is a nurse. When Jessel returns to New York, he becomes a burly-gurdy man and goes about seeking his lost love.

Through chance he discovers her, only to learn of her happy marriage. Her husband takes an interest in the young Italian, operates and restores his sight. Jessel, seeing his former sweetheart is happy, sings a gay farewell although his heart is broken at the blow fate has dealt him.

MOOSE OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

Local Lodge Will Seek Cup
For Ritualistic Work

The annual installation of officers of Victoria Lodge No. 1390, Royal Order of Moose, took place in the Temple Hall Friday evening. W. D. Taylor, past dictator, acting as grand installing officer, and J. Leask as grand sergeant-at-arms. Those installed were: Jr. Past Dictator, R. H. Lott; dictator, S. Honeychurch; vice-dictator, A. P. Dunnett; prelate, O. J. Boulton; treasurer, L. W. Cox; three-year trustee, C. B. Mess; physician, Dr. E. C. Hart; sergeant-at-arms, A. E. Dunnett; inner guard, G. Parker; outer guard, E. J. Monk. Other officers whose terms have not yet expired are: Secretary, J. P. Pearce, trustee, R. Taylor and J. E. Ellis. R. H. Lott was elected as representative to the Supreme Lodge, with J. F. Pearce as alternate, both of whom are eligible to represent the local lodge at the supreme convention to be held at Mooseheart at end of June. Arrangements have been made to enter a degree staff to compete at the fifteenth annual convention of the Northwest Moose Association, which will be held at Hoquiam, Wash. June 12, 13 and 14. This team won the cup in 1928 for ritualistic work, but did not compete last year as the convention was held in Victoria. Victoria Lodge No. 1390 will be ten years of age on July 24 and in all probability will celebrate the event in a tangible nature if discussions which have taken place materialize. During this meeting past dictator's jewels were presented to R. H. Lott, the retiring dictator, and to J. Leask, the presentation being made in a very pleasing manner by W. D. Taylor on behalf of the lodge.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday. "And not only so, but we also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement" (Romans 8:24), was one of the Scriptural texts contained in the lesson-sermon. Following the reading of the Bible texts, passages were read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, one passage being the following from page 497: "We acknowledge Jesus' atonement as the evidence of divine, efficacious love, unfolding man's unity with God through Christ Jesus the way-shower; and we acknowledge that man is saved through Christ, through truth, life, and love as demonstrated by the Galilean Prophet in healing the sick and overcoming sin and death."

COMEDY IS FEATURED AT ROYAL

Gordon McLeod Players Reopen With "The Man From Toronto"

Claude Bailey and Lilian
Christine in Chief Role

To-night the Gordon McLeod Players reopen at the Royal Theatre with a comedy entitled "The Man From Toronto," one of the most charming and amusing plays ever produced. It is a comedy with a real plot and not merely the stringing together of a lot of witty lines. The story concerns the conditions made in the will of a rich old man, who has made marriage imperative upon the person who inherits his money. Perhaps that sounds easy, but in this case there are many complications wherein lies the comedy that follows.

The cast has an unusually large number of ladies, with Lilian Christine in a role which will enhance her reputation among her many admirers. Roland Gillet, who has been amusing in his comic character roles in the last few weeks, has in the feature part a fine light comedy role to which he will do full justice.

James McGrath plays as a family lawyer.

Margaret St. Bar-West has one of those piquant roles which are so charmingly rendered by her, and Roland Gillet will once more have an opportunity of showing his droll wit.

Others in the cast are Ann Farrer, Peggie Burnand, Betty Jennings and Maude Blay.

The play is produced by Gordon McLeod, and the setting is a charming scene of an old cottage at Talmouth, a village by the sea in Devonshire.

From the performances on Wednesday night and matinee a portion of the proceeds will be given to the Red Cross Fund, as was done for the Poppy Fund and the Solarium, and it is hoped to be able to hand over a substantial sum to this deserving cause.

Grace Is Chief Asset of Actress, Says Gilda Gray

Charming Dancer Plays in
"Piccadilly" at the Columbia

Grace of form, figure and movement is what brought Gilda Gray, star of the World-Wide picture, "Piccadilly," which is at the Columbia Theatre to-day, to the forefront of screen players.

That is what brought her a $100,000 contract to play in the picture under that master of directors, the maker of "Variety," E. A. Dupont, under the banner of the British International Pictures Limited.

Gilda admits it herself. She states that you need ability, voice and grace, but the greatest of these three is grace.

And Miss Gray became graceful through dancing. And this is one of her chief assets in any picture, for she is known throughout America and Europe for her torpechous art. She it was that first invented the "Shimmy," she it was that made the "Blues," "The Charleston" and "The Black Bottom" popular.

Before, I didn't know what a good pipe smoke was—now I know the best there is! "PICOBAC" is a man's smoke. Full flavoured, yet without bitterness or bite. Smooth smoking yet lasting and wholesomely cool. I've tried lots but the pick of the bunch is "PICOBAC".

EPIC AIR FILM AT DOMINION

"Young Eagles" Depicts Gallantry of Airmen in Battle

Charles "Buddy" Rogers Has Leading Role of Paramount Pictures

Men who laugh at death and dare everything for love people Paramount's thrilling drama of the war, "Young Eagles." Charles (Buddy) Rogers in the star, the same Buddy who provided most of the romance and thrills in the exciting war aviation epic, "Wings," and William ("Wings") Wellman directed. "Young Eagles" will be the entertainment at the Dominion Theatre for three days, starting to-day.

While "Wings" was, primarily, the story of friendship between brother pilots in the American air force, "Young Eagles" immortalizes the spirit of knight errantry which existed between the opposing pilots. These intrepid warriors of the skies battled ferociously and defied death daringly, yet they always insisted on a fair victory in a fair fight. There was a spirit of good-fellowship between the opposing aces, and this spirit "Young Eagles" has captured.

Buddy is the U.S. ace who, in a thrilling air duel, brings down the redoubtable Paul Lukas within the Allied lines. Buddy is assigned to convey Lukas to Paris where the secret service agents believe they can worm military secrets from him and become good friends on the journey.

Future Buildings May Lack Windows

New York, April 21.—"We are on the eve of an era of windowless buildings. Artificial sunlight and ventilation will be supplied in rooms completely closed free from draughts, uneven temperatures and city noise."

"Into these rooms business executives will come via television to attend board meetings while they are themselves in widely separated parts of the country."

So, at least, the delegates to the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers were told by Dr. Zay Jeffries of Cleveland, speaking on the "Future of the American Iron and Steel Industry."

YOUR NEWSPAPER BY RADIO

Through a new type automatic carbon recorder developed by Charles J. Young, son of Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Company, newspapers and business letters were flashed by radio from San Francisco to Schenectady, N.Y., and reproduced in full size. The device can be attached to any radio receiver, and prints on a roll of paper at the rate of half an inch a minute. Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, left, of General Electric, is shown here with Young Jr. examining the machine.

CANADA EXTENDS NATIONAL PARKS

Canada's fine system of national parks has recently been augmented by two interesting additions—the Riding Mountain national park in Manitoba and the Georgian Bay Islands Park in Ontario. The Georgian Bay Islands Park, which is situated in the Georgian Bay, is a natural home for big game and its reservation as a park will not only conserve a typical example of the scenery of Manitoba, but will make provision for the recreational needs of the people of this part of Canada and become an important big game sanctuary and tourist attraction as well.

The Georgian Bay Islands park consists of twenty-nine island reservations in one of the most beautiful regions of Canada, which in recent years has become the home of large numbers of summer residents, many of them from across the international boundary. Owing to the popularity of this region the islands have been rapidly passing into private hands, and it was clear that unless provision was immediately made no access would soon be possible to the general public for camping and picnicking. Beauport Island was in fact the last large island which had not yet been taken up. This island itself is extensive enough to become a considerable resort. It covers nearly five square miles and possesses fine bathing beaches, beautiful groves of trees and a varied bird and plant life. Its historical traditions and remains will also add to its interest.

None of the provinces east of Ontario as yet possesses national parks with the exception of two small historic parks, covering only a few acres, in Nova Scotia. Strong representations have recently been made that a park should be created in New Brunswick, and it is understood that the matter is now receiving the consideration of the government. The Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, in a recent public address, stated that it was his desire to see a national park established in every province of the Dominion, so that the benefits to be obtained from these great playgrounds and reserves should be made available to citizens in every part of Canada.

While the immaterial benefits are many and must increase as time goes on, these are also material ones which are readily obvious. The way in which a national park may contribute to general prosperity through the stimulation to tourist travel is well known in the case of the Prince Albert Park in Saskatchewan. Although established less than two years and situated seventy miles from the nearest railway it drew in 1929 10,000 visitors, while Point Pelee park, a small reservation in southern Ontario, which draws a large percentage of United States visitors, increased its registrations from 50,000 to 100,000 in one year.

A recent analysis of the inducements which bring visitors to Canada from across the line showed that the strongest attraction was new and striking scenery. "Beauty, spiced by wonder," said Stephen Mather, former Director of the United States Park Service, "is the greatest lure to travel," and this is the outstanding appeal made by the national parks. But while the parks are an increasing lure to foreign travel they are also becoming more and more the playgrounds of Canadians themselves. In the parks in the Rockies an increasing percentage of visitors is drawn from the Prairie Provinces, British Columbia and Eastern Canada.

The sums spent by the people of the United States in travel are astonishing. Figures published by the United States Department of Commerce show that in 1928 the total expenditure of U.S. citizens on travel outside their own boundaries was approximately $218,606,000. Of this sum $80,000,000 was spent outside of North America. In 1929 the total expenditure is estimated to have reached the colossal sum of one billion dollars. This is a state-1, represents about one per cent of the total annual income of the country. In recent years Canada has been receiving a rapidly increasing share of this traffic. Figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics placed the tourist revenue of the country in 1928 at over $250,000,000. The figure for 1929 has been placed by a preliminary estimate at $300,000,000. The total value of Canada's mineral production for 1929 is estimated at $205,976,000 which indicates how rapidly tourist travel is climbing into one of the first places among our sources of national wealth. As Hon. Mr. Stewart pointed out, valuable as the parks are already recognized to be, they are likely to be appreciated more and more as time goes on and the wild places of the country are taken up. Already public men in the United States are deploring the almost complete disappearance of unspoiled scenic conditions there. Canada realizes that while she is today numerically a small people, the day will inevitably come, much sooner perhaps than is realized, when she will be much more developed, and supporting a large population. The rapidity with which such changes can be brought about has been greatly accelerated in recent years. To-day, thanks to the use of the aeroplane, Canada's immense northern areas are being so swiftly opened up that it is hard to realize what is going on. Each year the northern boundary is pushed farther back and regions which, in the ordinary course of events must have waited many years for development, have been brought within the touch of civilization. What the next fifty years have in store for Canada it is impossible to foretell, but that there will be a great expansion, is generally acknowledged. It is fortunate, therefore, under these conditions that Canada is preserving its regions of outstanding natural beauty as represented by the growing system of national parks.

Appealing New Slogan Coined For Province's Publicity Literature

An alluring new publicity slogan for British Columbia, one that promises to become as popular for the province as "Follow the Birds" is for Victoria, has been coined and used for the first time in a new folder just issued by the Provincial Government.

formation, that a copyright covering the United States and Canada will be sought on the slogan although publicity bureaus of the province and other organizations publishing a publicity material relating to British Columbia, "ma" be permitted to use it but only in reference to this province.

From the material in the book it would appear that British Columbia's proximity to the Land of the Midnight Sun prompted the very apt title. A brief reference is made to the proposal for the construction of the B.C. Alaska Highway.

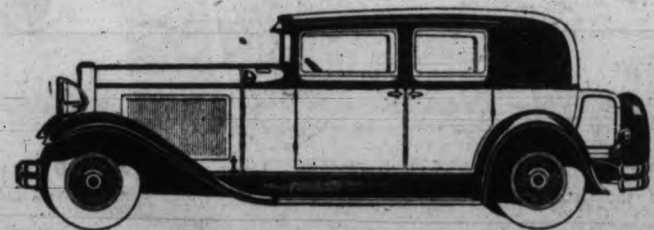

"Men of vision, men of faith and of courage are visualizing the future and are planning the mightiest highway project that the world has ever known," says the folder. "It is magnificent in its conception and stupendous in its national and international scope. It is the construction of a Pathway of Peace from the end of the road in the Land of the Golden Twilight through the great silent spaces to the Land of the Midnight Sun, the extension of the present highway that stretches from the sunbaked shores of Mexico to Hazelton in British Columbia on through the northern portion of the province to the Yukon, across the rich stretches of Alaska and ultimately to the ice straits of Bering."

The booklet speaks of British Columbia as the land where the setting sun gives benediction in the evening sky with crimson and gold, silver and royal purple; and the dawn salutes the new day like the nectar of gods, invigorating the body and stimulating the mind of those who love Nature.

The end of colonization, it is estimated, will be reached in about 200 years.

B.C. TEACHERS CONVENE TO-DAY

Educationists From All Over Province Gather at Vancouver

Vancouver, April 21.—With delegates representing practically every section of the province attending and an agenda which includes addresses by many speakers of prominence, the fourteenth annual convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation will open Tuesday. The sessions will continue until Thursday afternoon.

The convention will have a distinguished visitor, Sir John Adams of London, who will give several addresses.

Elevated to the Knighthood in 1925, Sir John is one of the leading educationists in the English speaking world. For twenty years principal of the London Day Training College, he was also Professor of Education in the University of London, of which he is now emeritus professor. He is author of a number of works on education.

The executive will meet at 7.30 o'clock to-night in Kitsilano School, when hotel registrations and arrangements for social and theatre parties will be made. Registration will commence at 8.45 a.m. Tuesday, and the opening general session will be held an hour later in the school auditorium.

Mayor W. H. Malkin will officially open the convention at 10 a.m. at the Victoria, vice-president of the Federation, will reply to the address of welcome. Other speakers will be Chairman W. H. Malkin, Vancouver School Board, C. B. Lefroy, president of the Provincial Teachers' Association, and Mrs. E. Mahon, president of the Provincial Parents' Association.

Addresses Tuesday morning will be given by Hon. Joshua Hinchcliffe, Minister of Education, who will speak on "Educational Legislation in British Columbia," J. H. Sheffield, provincial inspector, Nelson, who will speak on "The Education of the New Canadian," and Special Reference to the Department, Sir John Adams, whose topic will be "The Solidarity of the Teaching Staff."

Numbers of Victoria teachers left the city and district over the weekend to attend the eleventh annual convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, opening at Kistilano High School to-day. Joshua Hinchcliffe, Minister of Education, Provincial Superintendent of Education, and Trustee G. A. A. Hebdon, are among Victoria who will speak at the gathering. The convention will last four days.

Sir John Adams, noted British educationist who recently completed a world tour in which he addressed many universities and teachers' associations, is featured as a speaker on the programme, which contains a notable list of men and women interested in educational affairs in the province.

The model assembly of the League of Nations, staged by the students of the Modern History Club at the Victoria High School recently made such an impression that it will be repeated for the benefit of the convention delegates with the Victoria personnel and Vancouver students assisting. Cyril Chave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Chave, of this city, will deliver the opening speech as "president of the council."

The names of many Victoria students are to be seen in the following list of those who will take part in the second presentation of the model assembly, as follows:

THRONGS AT CHURCH AND IN COUNTRY YESTERDAY

bonnets, coats and shoes were in evidence everywhere, and the weather gave encouragement to the wearing of the best. All the churches were bright with altar and pulpit decorations, while the pews were crowded.

CROWDED HIGHWAYS

The evening church services were also crowded. Most of the choir of the city gave special Easter music programmes, some of the services being almost entirely musical.

The afternoon saw the first heavy motor car rush of the season on the Marine Drive and on the Saanich, Malahat and Sooke highways. At the peak of the afternoon there were unbroken lines of motor traffic needed towards the country.

WILD FLOWERS SUFFER

Wild flowers of the fields suffered their greatest slaughter of the year so far, as the thousands of motor cars strewed their occupants over the countryside. The blooming wildflowers that showed their "near-a-highway" yesterday had no chance to escape. The wild flowers and fields had been pretty well raised during the last week or so, but the crowds yesterday made a thorough job of finishing it.

Butcher's Garden at Brentwood had their first great influx of the early bulb flowers of spring.

Bird lovers were out in the open yesterday a number of them being particularly active around the house. To some district trying to spot the skylarks.

The afternoon was so mild that some of the beaches such as Cadboro and Cordova had their first picnic parties of the year.

Saanich Inlet was dotted with scores of motor and other craft with fishing parties aboard. Most of the parties reported results as disappointing as the fish apparently had other Easter Day interests than biting at trolleys.

Sightseeing cars did a good business as Easter vacationists had poured in at the week-end from Seattle and Vancouver.

DIFFICULTIES SMOOTHED AWAY

All difficulties in the way of signing of the naval treaty appeared to have been straightened out and there was every indication nothing would prevent the ceremony at 10.30 a.m. tomorrow culminating the long arduous work of the conference.

It was three months ago that the conference opened with expression of high hopes of a five-power treaty of limitation and reduction. The treaty to be signed to-morrow forenoon is a three-power treaty of limitation between Great Britain and the United States and Japan, with some five-power trimmings on less important phases which France and Italy will sign.

Although falling short of the original aim of the conference, some observers were loud in their praise of the results.

OVER RADIO

Premier MacDonald will broadcast a talk on the naval conference Tuesday evening, starting at 8.40 p.m. The address which will last twenty minutes, will be transmitted from all British stations.

TREATY PREAMBLE

London, April 21.—The text of the preamble to the London Naval Treaty to be signed by the powers at the conference, became known here to-day. It is a formal statement in a single long sentence of the aims of the powers.

The preamble reads: "The President of the United States of America, the President of the French Republic, His Majesty the King of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions beyond the seas, His Majesty the King of Italy, and His Majesty the Emperor of Japan, desiring to prevent the dangers and reduce the burdens inherent in competitive armaments, and desiring to carry forward the work begun in the Washington Naval Conference and to facilitate the progressive realization of general limitation and reduction of armaments, have resolved, with a view to accelerating these purposes, to conclude a treaty for the limitation of naval armaments and have accordingly appointed as their plenipotentiaries—the names of the plenipotentiaries and the treaty itself follow.

JAPAN'S SIGNATURE

Tokio, April 21.—Formal instructions to sign the London naval pact on behalf of Japan were sent yesterday to Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Japanese delegation in London.

After the text had been carefully examined by Premier Hamaguchi, Foreign Minister Shidehara, is expected to make a statement either directly to the press or early in the parliamentary session, which will begin to-morrow.

Officials believe criticism of the treaty should certainly will be clamorous, but the Associated Press was assured by the highest authority that the government is confident that opponents of the London agreement will not be able to prevent ratification.

Many leaders in the Privy Council whose approval must precede the emperor's ratification, have spoken approvingly of the government's "surrender," but the Cabinet is confident the councillors will be unwilling to take the responsibility for wrecking the pact. This belief was strengthened by the fact that the international instrument will mean a great financial saving for Japan and gain the goodwill of the Anglo-Saxon powers.

TARDIEU NOT TO SIGN

Canadian Press Cable Via Havas Paris, April 21.—Premier Andre Tardieu will be kept here by his official duties and will not be able to go to London to sign the final act of the Naval Conference, the Chamber of Deputies told Premier Ramsay MacDonald in a communication to-day. The Chamber asked Foreign Minister Aristide Briand to express the friendly sentiments of the French Government.

Mr. MacDonald, Mr. Briand and U. J. Dumesnil, Minister of Marine, left for London at noon.

CLOTH BOYCOTT MOVE IN INDIA

Madras, India, April 21.—A meeting here to-day under the chairmanship of Dr. Ram Rao, former member of the Council of State, decided to form a Swadeshi League to promote the use of native goods and to boycott the use of British cloths particularly.

Horoscope

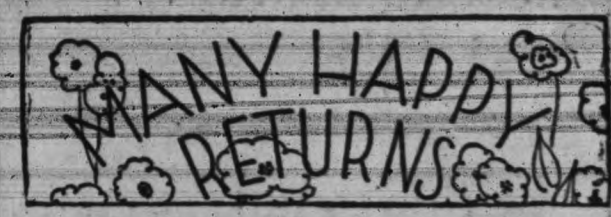

TUESDAY, APRIL 21, 1930
Friendly stars rule to-day, according to astrology, which indicates a planetary government favorable to most parts of the world.
In the early morning the aspects encourage enterprises of all sorts. There should be an access of physical energy under this aspect.
The rule seems to promise added wealth to many and to indicate success for enterprises of various kinds.
New countries are to be developed on a wholesale scale, if the stars are rightly interpreted.
Women should benefit while this constellation prevails, for it stimulates ambition and encourages intellectual effort.
This is read as a favorable day for marriages or for engagements, since romance leads in a peculiarly insistent way, the stars declare.
The rule favors importers, especially those who cater to the needs or the luxurious tastes of women.
Under this direction of the stars a keen sense of beauty is likely to prevail, and it is foretold that this will affect shops as well as home furnishings.
One of the signs of the times will be the appreciation of artistry and its application to commonplace things, astrologers declare.
Under this rule women may be changed in mood, but for this reason more romance, that England should understand Canada better than it does, and that the Englishmen should have great opportunities in Canada.
There was a large amount of ignorance in England in regard to Canadian affairs, said the major, and this should be rectified as soon as possible. There was a very large amount of capital in England ready for investment and it was felt that this should go to Canada. Major Jones will make a thorough study of economic conditions in this country and will write a series of articles for his paper telling of the opportunities for sound and profitable investment here.
Another prominent passenger on the Duchess of Atholl was Sir Andrew Mac-
Phail, professor of medical history, Mc-Gill, and well-known traveler and author, who has been on a visit to Europe, and Captain C. D. Mercoutie, manager of the Canadian Pacific B.C.
Coastal Service, also en route to his headquarters in Victoria.

LONDON EDITOR TO VISIT HERE

Official of London Morning Post Arrives in St. John Aboard Duchess of Atholl.
St. John, N.B., April 21.—In Canada for the purpose of fostering closer economic relations between Great Britain and Canada, Major L. A. M. Jones, economic editor of The London Morning Post, arrived here Saturday on the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Atholl, to spend two months in this country studying conditions, during which time he will go as far west as Victoria.
The proprietors of The Morning Post, which is one of the best-known London journals, think there should be a closer understanding on the part of Englishmen of the advantages and economic openings in Canada. There also is a feeling in Canada, said Major
Jones, that England should understand
Canada better than it does, and that
the Englishmen should have great opportunities in Canada.

FRENCH PRESIDENT IS RADIO FAN

President Doumergue listens intently while William Loth, scientist, explains the operation of his airplane radio invention. Inset shows the French President listening in.
By MINOTT SAUNDERS
Paris, April 21.—Though President
Hoover may get up early in the morning to catch a fish, President Doumergue of France gets up in the middle of the night to catch America on his radio.
President Doumergue is an ardent radio fan, and to date his proudest boast is that he got Chicago, Stambul, Moscow and Barcelona on his own set in one sitting at the Elysee Palace.
Doing this keeps him up at all hours.
Being six hours ahead of Chicago, he must be up at 4 in the morning to hear a 10 o'clock programme there.
But "Gastouet," as the President of France is affectionately called, is a bachelor, and the only interference he has in tuning in on his loud speaker is atmospheric.
Aside from wireless programmes, Doumergue is interested in all radio developments. When he heard that William Loth, famous French scientist, had invented a radio signal system,
that would do away with lighthouses,
he insisted upon paying a formal visit to the works at Vaux-Verneuil, about thirty miles from Paris. The weather was bad and, with Laurent Eynac, air minister, he braved two snow squalls
to make a thorough inspection.
Loth explained he had a perfect system for guiding ships and aeroplanes by radio-telegraphy. Two "radio-piers" are placed on either side of the channel to which ships should steer, and they emit signals in dots and dashes. Listening apparatus on the ship, which may pick up the sounds at great distances, will tell the nav-igator whether or not he is on his course. If he hears more dashes than dots, for instance, he is to the right;
more dots than dashes, he is to the left, while an even sequence of both means that his course is true.
Variations permit the guiding of a ship around a storm and putting it straight again on its course. Signals may be placed along coasts and near dangerous water to warn the navigator
as lighthouses do now.
Loth's invention, he explained, will also guide aeroplanes through dense fog, informing pilots of their altitude, of the position of landing fields,
and guiding them to a safe landing.

Charlotte Bronte Was Popular Story-
Teller
There was no doubt that Charlotte Bronte could tell stories. At home she entertained her brother and sisters by the hour. When she was sent away to boarding school, her gift soon made her popular with the girls.
In the dormitory, when the lights were out, and the girls were supposed to be sleeping, Charlotte was often begged for a story, and just as often she would oblige, making up the story
as she went along.
One night she made up a very thrilling ghost story. In her excitement, she made it more and more creepy.
Finally, when she came to the point of the tale, one of the girls forgot where she was, and gave a loud scream.
That scream was heard in the hall,
and brought the matron running to the room to see what had happened.
It was a long time before Charlotte dared to tell stories again.
Charlotte Bronte, born in England,
April 21, 1816, was a famous writer.
Her best-known book is called "Jane Eyre."

Water Surplus Ends B. C. Power Shortage

Further heavy rains on the Pacific Coast have put an abundance of water behind the dams of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company's power houses.
There is now the equivalent of approximately 20,000,000 kilowatt hours in storage
in Lake Osoyima; Stave Lake and Alouette
Lake, and the full effect of the recent rains and mild weather has not yet been felt; the company announced to-day.
On this date 1929 there was water for only 25,000,000 kilowatt hours in storage, this abnormally low level being the real cause of the power shortage later in the same year.
Water levels this year are now considered to be normal for this time of year.

PAGEANT OF CHURCH IS PRESENTED

Fairchild Congregation Witnesses Colorful Easter Presentation

A colorful portrayal by 100 members of Fairchild United Church, revealing the vitality and growth of the church, was depicted in the pageant "The Church Triumphant," presented yesterday evening. The church was filled.

The church was represented by Miss Thekla Schroeder, gown in long white robes and seated high on a throne surrounded by her handmaidens, Miss Grace Keefe taking the part of Meditation and Miss Rose Halsey representing Service.

The critic, G. G. Green, then appeared to speak his words of denunciation, calling the interpreter's attention to the passivity, who neither saw the church nor knew it existed.

Next came a modern street scene. While the choir sang "Where Cross the Crooked Ways of Life," shoppers, sportsmen, business people, travelers, and society folk all hurried past the church, which appeared helpless, but Service and Meditation, entered the throng determined to win them to Christ and the Church.

The celestial company of Abraham, Christopher Columbus, John Wesley, Florence Nightingale, and Martin Luther Ryerson passed in review. These by pen, science, art and religion had carried forward the truth throughout the ages.

Service brought the sorrowing to the church, which spoke words of comfort. The hungry and poor, to whom the church gave alms and essentials of character, then appeared, and the aged to whom the church ministered, were seen.

ORIENTAL TAUGHT

Boys and girls of the cities sang of the triumph of the church and the Japanese section of the Oriental pageant was taught a Sunday school lesson by their teacher, Miss Mosepp.

The critic then spoke to Rev. Hugh Nixon, who took the part of the interpreter, saying:

"The Church still has vitality. I have seen her triumph in this carping criticism and I am amazed. The church is a living thing, and her voices under Major Watts, sang solos and choruses from 'The Holy City,' by Alfred Gaul. The soloists were Miss Grace Keefe, Madeline Claude, and Miss H. O. Land, tenor, and Albert Sullivan, bass. The music was very much appreciated.

The pageant was arranged and directed by Mrs. Hugh Nixon.

He came to Victoria eighteen years ago, for some time acting as organizer for the Independent Order of Foresters, and subsequently in a similar capacity for L.O.O.F. He was a Past Master of the Camosun Lodge, A.F. & A.M., and at the time of his death was a member of the L.O.O.F. Swine Island was his widow, who is at present a patient at Rest Haven Sanatorium, two sons and six daughters. C. C. Thompson, of Shoal Bay, B.C., A. E. Thompson, of Los Angeles, Mrs. A. C. Emerson, of St. John, N.B.; Mrs. W. Schuman, of Edmonton; Mrs. C. M. C. Hoyt, of Reid Bay, B.C.; Mrs. F. L. Aaser and Mrs. T. C. Babcock, of Vancouver, and Mrs. H. E. Chadwick will officiate, and interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

SEATTLE MEN MAKE FAST TRIP IN SEAPLANES

Fairchild Seaplane on Special Trips to Nanaimo To-day

Seattle Business Men Going Long Way in 24 Hours

From Seattle to Victoria, to Nanaimo, to Vancouver and back to Seattle in less than twenty-four hours is the trip being made to-day and to-night by E. C. Stone and O. Conklin, Seattle business men, and was made possible through the combined services of the Alaska-Washington Airways of British Columbia and the Alaska-Washington Airways.

At 10.45 o'clock this morning the two air travelers arrived here on the regular Seattle-Victoria seaplane. They immediately boarded the Fairchild cabin monoplane of the Alaska-Washington Airways of B.C. with Pilot G. K. MacKenzie in charge, and were taken to Nanaimo, where they arrived at 11.50, the plane proceeding on to Vancouver with its regular passengers. It was Pilot MacKenzie's first visit to the up-Island city.

The seaplane then doubled back on a special trip with passengers and a film for the Dominion Theatre, arriving here shortly before 1 o'clock, leaving again at 1.15 o'clock for Vancouver.

The seaplane will leave Vancouver again at 4 o'clock on its regular run and is due here at 4.45 o'clock. Leaving here at 5.15 o'clock it will proceed to Nanaimo, pick up Stone and Conklin and transport them to Vancouver, where they will sail by steamer to-night for Seattle, arriving back there at 7 o'clock to-morrow morning.

CIRCUS OPENS ON THURSDAY

Y.M.C.A. Offering Annual Event For Three Nights; Fine Programme Billed

With all the fun and atmosphere of "the big top," Blazing Brothers' annual circus will swing into action at 8.15 o'clock Thursday evening in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium and will be seen for the two succeeding nights at the same hour.

Over 200 performers have been secured for the different acts and will offer a fine varied programme. Large crowds are expected to attend.

"The Tumbling Toughs," a squad of acrobats will furnish one of the highlights on the programme with an act which will include rolls, flips, somersaults and all manner of tumbling tricks interspersed with pranks and humor.

The acrobatic family, with balances and more intricate tumbling as well as hand springs, walk-overs, and all the other tricks of high-class circus performers, is counted to be among the outstanding features, while the apparatus work of the senior leaders' corps as well as the balloon mazes of other colorful exhibitions, should add to the attractiveness of the programme.

CLUB SWINGER

Talks, the Hindu club swinger, will also be seen demonstrating his skill with the twenty-five pound three-foot club, as well as the 150-pound dumb-bells.

Tickets have been on sale for two or three days and have found a ready sale to date. Before the initial performance, hundreds more are expected to be in the hands of enthusiastic circus-goers.

ISLAND UNITED FOR PUBLICITY

Services are making plans this year for a service at least equal to that of previous summers.

The seaplane service which is being operated by the Alaska Washington Airways Limited will be supplemented by a new triangle seaplane service backed by experienced aviators such as Major Alex Holden of Victoria and Captain J. H. Macdonald of the California interests.

Records of visitors taken at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and daily inquiries received from many points in Canada and the United States indicate that tourist travel to Victoria and Vancouver Island during the summer months will break previous records.

Many personal letters are being received from intending visitors every day. The Puget Sound and British Columbia Associated, with which Victoria is affiliated, has the Eastern Publicity Bureau daily a list of inquiries containing 100 to 200 names.

George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, who is at present touring the Pacific Coast with the Redwood Camp, reports that Vancouver Island is to-day better known throughout Washington, Oregon and California, for the small amount expended in advertising, than any other portion of the American continent.

SANFORD EVANS BACK TO RESUME FRUIT INQUIRY

"I do not propose to revive that," said Mr. Evans. "There is plenty to do here," he observed in explanation of the problems that he is grappling with in connection with the production, marketing, handling and transportation of fruit and vegetables.

The commissioner remained in Winnipeg until the Manitoba Legislature had prorogued and then he packed his attaché case and took train for the coast.

The recommendations of the commissioner on irrigation and the available water supply in certain districts of the Okanagan Valley were considered by the B.C. Legislature at its recent session.

TAKES UP NEW ANGLES

Mr. Evans now proposes to take up other branches of the industry, such as methods of farming and fruit growing practiced in certain areas, varieties of produce considered most advantageous or profitable to be cultivated, packing and distribution, export and domestic markets, manu-

Annual Greater Victoria Clean-up Campaign Opens

"Most Beautiful City In Canada" Involves Effort

Annual Clean-up Drive Is Co-ordination of All Property Owners to Retain Reputation of Capital for Outstanding Charm and Beauty; Special Arrangements Are Made to Help in Civic Spring Cleaning.

Beautiful homes, flower-scented gardens, and all of the charm that goes into the title of "The Most Beautiful City in Canada," are recalled in Victoria today in the annual Clean-up Week, April 21 to April 26.

For years the capital has been proud of its title, so oft repeated by travelers who have seen much of the world and its wonders, and who prolong intended stays of a few days into months under the spell of this Paradise Isle of the Pacific.

Not a small part in keeping bright its reputation as a centre of beautiful homes is played in the whole-hearted co-operation shown by home and business owners in the annual spring cleaning drive. Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich, and Esquimalt combine on these occasions to dress the setting which has won for them acknowledged leadership in civic beautification.

The tourists now number close on 500,000 a year, from a scant few thousands who made the pilgrimage in the early days. It is a motor-borne traffic these days, and no section of the capital or its environs escapes the attentive observation of these visitors.

Not only for the sake of the visitors who year by year in astounding numbers have made stays in Victoria and the surrounding districts, but also for the sake of the citizens who live and make their homes here, is Clean-up Week important.

FROM OAK BAY TO ESQUIMALT
From Oak Bay to Esquimalt, placards calling attention to the Clean-up drive have been posted in stores through the co-operation of merchants. From every pulpit over the week-end a kindly exhortation was made to observe the first duty of citizenship, cleanliness of home and surroundings. Special sales of home and garden cleaning materials, paints and varnishes, and all that goes into the annual freshening up of residential and business premises are being staged this week.

Nominally under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Clean-up Week now has won a wide significance, and is made effective through the co-ordination of many forces, all bent to the same end: the retention of the fine record of Victoria and its municipal neighbors as a centre of beautiful homes and contented people.

No second appeal is needed to the owner of business premises to place the best front before the public in advance of the busy tourist season. Home owners, too, have much to gain by keeping their dwellings trim and their gardens a floral advertisement for the centre in which they live.

NO EXTRA ASSESSMENT
At one time householders feared to paint up their homes, under the mistaken impression that extra taxes would be levied on property thus improved, but that myth has been dispelled by frequent and repeated assurances from city and municipal officials time and again. "No additional assessment will be made by reason of painting improvements," is the pledge of the taxing authorities, and this had been rigidly adhered to by the present civic administration.

But it is not only the exterior that counts. One of the proud boasts of the capital lies in its low-loss ratios for fire damage. At a time when other cities are suffering in the annual toll from overhauled stoves and fires, Victoria heads for the four worst months of the year. This comes, to no little extent, from the annual cleaning out of rubbish piles, the burning of old refuse, and the tidying of basements in homes as well as in business premises.

To show what store the fire fighters place on this service, it is only necessary to state that upwards of 5,000 inspections of business premises are made by fire captains and fire lieutenants every year. Victoria's fire prevention methods have brought tangible results, and won for the capital the top place in the list of all Canadian cities for fire loss in 1929.

An annual fire loss of about $1 per capita is one result from co-operation by home and business owners to stop a leak that runs like a fortune teller of hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

HELPERS READY
Naturally in the cleaning out of basements, the tidying up of gardens and generally in the work of spring cleaning inside and outside the home, help may be required by householders. In this connection the Employment Service of Canada, Victoria Branch, has taken a leading role each year in supplying suitable men and women for casual employment in the Clean-up Drive. The bureau's telephone is 184, and before permits will be arranged for those within the city who seek this added facility.

Special arrangements apply this week to the removal of refuse collected at city homes. The city engineer's department has extra scoops and trucks at work, and all disposable rubbish collected at city homes will be removed by the city garbage service. Other refuse, too large to be so handled, will be dumped at sea free of charge, if sent to the city wharf.

The Clean-up drive depends for its results on the co-operation of every property and building owner, and in proportion to the extent to which such co-operation is forthcoming will be the effective results of the drive and its resulting benefits to Victoria and district. High reputations are not lightly won, it is pointed out by those in charge of the drive, and the title of "The Most Beautiful City in Canada" is one that is well worth every effort to keep.

Tennis Shorts
New tennis togs for women include cotton rep and silk suits that are short, buttoned on the sleeves of cap sleeved shirts. They are very cute.

White Touch
An O'Rossan suit in black crepe has a white collar of tucked pique that stands up in a ruff and a little bow of pique run through a slit in either cuff. The white is removable for cleaning.

Adding CHARM to the HOME

Bright new awnings add so much to the appearance of any home. They lend that touch of extra finish and color which is highly distinctive. But styles in awnings change every few years. Patterns come in modern new shades and designs. Before you put your old awnings up this season, look them over, and if they are faded, shabby, worn, etc., replace them with new ones.

Cleaning Up Should Be Followed By Planting For Permanent Effect

Nowhere will the paint-up and clean-up campaign show greater effects or produce more satisfactory results than in the garden. Now, of all months of the year, is the time to put the garden in shape for the summer season. If this work is delayed much longer, it cannot be done satisfactorily at all. There is still time yet, however, to make a good job of it.

For those who have neglected their garden in the past, the preparations of spring are not serious. Forking over of perennial borders, trimming up of evergreen shrubs, final pruning of roses, training of climbers and clearing away of the inevitable dead leaves and refuse of the winter from the experienced gardener. For those who have no gardens, or have allowed their gardens to run to seed, the job more difficult.

FIGHTING THE WEEDS
To clean up a yard which is over-run with weeds and grass and make a garden of it is such satisfaction, when complete, as to justify all the energy spent on it. The first thing to do is to get rid of all the refuse in an old-fashioned bon fire. This done, you may turn your attention to the ground itself. Most likely it will be badly overgrown with weeds and particularly with the greatest enemy of Victoria gardeners, couch grass. Ordinary weeds can be pulled out or dug out. Couch grass is not so easy to handle. If you are ambitious enough, you may double-dig your ground, that is, dig it two spades deep, burying the grass so deeply that it can never reach the surface again. This is the best way, but involves a good deal of labor. The next best thing is to fork up the ground and extract the long grass roots as you go. This is not easy, but takes time, but to eradicate this pest you must take out every inch of root. A piece of root small enough to be placed on a postage stamp will grow into a sizeable plant by the end of the summer. You will not get all the couch out in this way, but if you are thorough, so little will be left that you will be able to deal with it as it shows its head above the ground later.

PREPARING THE SOIL
In this process you will have got the ground into fairly good tilth and with a little raking it should be ready for planting. As you may decide. The addition of manure or some good commercial fertilizer is always advisable, no matter what you propose to grow. The person who has just built a new home and, after clearing away the inevitable debris of building, is preparing to make a garden, will do well this spring to prepare rather for the future than to try for immediate effects. The planting of potatoes, for instance, on ground which is to be made into a lawn later is to be commended, for in being the potatoes you will destroy the weeds and get the ground generally into good shape for permanent planting.

On the other hand, it is foolish to delay the heavier planting. Every year of growth on trees, shrubs and perennials is to be desired. For this reason they should be planted as soon as possible. There is yet time in this climate to plant such things, and even in May it is possible often to secure from nurseries retarded plants which may still be moved satisfactorily. Wise gardeners will get their shruberies, roses, trees and perennial borders established this year so that, even if the immediate results are not spectacular, they may be assured of something worth while a year hence.

REVIVING AN OLD GARDEN
For householders who face the problem of reviving an old garden, the problem has been allowed to go to seed, a different course is to be recommended.

out new, healthy shoots. Such evergreens as laurels, for instance, may be cut back almost to the ground if they have grown out of all reason, and will quickly restore themselves. Deciduous, blooming shrubs should be treated in the same way after they have flowered. Thus you will assure yourself of bloom next year.

The ground around shrubs, of course, should be dug and freed of weeds and then kept cultivated during the summer. The influence of cultivation, and the cutting away of rank growth, thus admitting air and sunshine, will surprise you. To destroy a large shrub which has taken many years to grow, merely because it is of poor shape and rank growth, is a feat of horticulture. Remember that it has a great root system under the earth and will re-make itself much more rapidly than a small shrub, newly planted. On the other hand, if it is not the kind of shrub you like, scrap it immediately by all means so that you may replace it now and let your new shrub grow during this year.

PLANTING PERENNIALS
If you choose carefully, you may plant perennials even now and secure handsome bloom this summer. Then next year of course, these plants will be at their best. The salvation of the man who wants quick effects in his cleaning-up campaign is the annual. By planting annuals, either in the form of seeds or as bedding plants, you may be assured of a mass of color during the entire summer. To achieve this result you must rotate your annual crop; that is, choose varying kinds which bloom at different times. This will assure you of flowers well into the fall, when the waters blossom.

Most home owners have an ugly fence, a garage wall or some other object which they would like to mask. Now is the time to attend to that. Plant one of the better kinds of creep, and within a year or so it will block out all unsightliness. Some of the honeysuckles, a clematis, Boston ivy, a wisteria, a climbing rose or one of the many fine new climbers will give you almost immediate effect. But be sure when planting any of these things to cultivate well the soil around it and, during the first year anyway, keep it constantly watered.

One of the new Fatou bags is made of black silk polka dotted in rose spangles. It is round, with silk covered fastenings and is lined with black, piped in pink.

Large Jewelry
New beads come large and gorgeous. Crystal, in pastel colors, comes in original shaped beads, varying from floral to modernistic bead designs. Black and white necklaces, with many small beads making big ropes, are very popular. Bright reds are good, too.

Tailored Cotton
Prints, plaids and polka dotted cotton yarns are now tailored in smart frocks, with accompanying jackets of nipped-in waistlines. Topped by a Ray straw hat they are summery and very attractive.

Short Sleeves
Many of the new printed frocks for office wear and daytime street wear, on warmer days have short sleeves. They either end in cuffs at the elbow or flare over the elbow.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By SISTER MARY

The modern home-maker is beginning to realize the importance of rhubarb in her menu. It can be substituted for many common fruits and used in a number of ways besides the pie and sauce concoctions of our mother's days. It comes so early in the season and is usually so inexpensive, staying throughout the summer, that it is well worth using in a variety of ways.

The pleasantly sharp flavor of rhubarb makes it particularly valuable. It comes at a time of jaded appetites and its tartness stimulates the desire for other foods. Phosphorus, that constituent necessary for strong teeth and sound bones, and vitamin C are found in this fruit vegetable.

Some people object to rhubarb because of its acidity. While its leaves do contain some oxalic acid and should not be used, the stems contain much less and after cooking the acid content is nil.

Care should be taken not to overcook rhubarb. Vitamin C disappears if subjected to too great heat for too long a time. As little water as possible should be used to prevent burning. For the fruit-vegetable is very juicy of itself.

Combining rhubarb with other materials makes it possible to obtain greater food value. The added materials can be chosen to make up for the lack in the rhubarb. Adding raisins to stewed or baked rhubarb adds iron to the dish and increases its efficiency.

Frozen desserts, hot or cold puddings and gelatine dishes are delicious made with rhubarb. Well sweetened rhubarb sauce is good with rice and cornstarch puddings. Always add sugar to rhubarb sauce when removing from the fire.

Rhubarb whip is suitable for small children as well as grownups and it served without the sauce makes a good dessert for the person on reducing diet.

RHUBARB WHIP

Whites 3 eggs, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup sweetened cooked rhubarb. Rub rhubarb through a sieve and add more sugar if necessary. Beat egg whites until stiff and dry. Heat rhubarb and fold in beaten egg whites. Turn into a buttered baking dish and place in a large pan of hot water. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with whipped cream or a custard sauce made with the yolks of the eggs.

CHAPMAN MAKES READY TO CAPTAIN ENGLISH CRICKET

Now Practicing at Indoor School For Return to Big-time Games

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times
London, April 21.—Now that A. P. P. Chapman will have time for cricket in the coming season, discussion is proceeding as to his chances as England's captain against the Australians.

Last season Chapman hardly played in first-class cricket. He had to devote more time to business—he is in the whisky trade—because of his prolonged tour in Australia with the team that brought back the "Ashes." In the coming season he will be able to play as much first-class cricket as he likes, and there is no doubt that he would very much like to captain the England side in what promises to be a series of thrilling test matches. He is just now practicing in an indoor cricket school in London at least twice a week.

HIS WARWICKSHIRE RIVAL

His only rival is R. E. S. Wyatt, of Warwickshire, the leading amateur batsman in this country last year, who despite an injury has done quite well on the tour in Australia and New Zealand this winter. Chief objection to Wyatt is that he has not had captaincy experience. Now that he has been appointed to captain Warwickshire he will have plenty of experience in team-leading before the vital test matches.

Much depends upon the methods which the selectors will adopt. The Australian practice is to choose the team first and then select the captain from the team. Hitherto the principle adopted here is to select the captain before the rest of the team. There are many good cricketers who think that the English selectors should take a leaf out of the Australian notebook.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE CRICKET

The Nottingham Cricket Club committee's report is a reminder of great achievements in the 1929 season—in which the old supremacy of Nottingham among the cricketing shires was reasserted after a long interval—and a promise of big events to come. Cricketers may occupy themselves in other ways during the winter months, but the work of the County Club committee knows no close season. This winter has been a particularly busy one at Trent Bridge, for the stand accommodation is being greatly extended, and by the time the umpires walk out of the pavilion at the beginning of the season's first match all this new accommodation will be ready for use. Its testing time will be in June, when the first test match is played at Trent Bridge, weather permitting.

Not the least important event of the coming season will be Wilfred Payton's second benefit match. Few cricketers hold their place among the best long enough to earn a second benefit, but Payton has given wonderful service to the county for a quarter of a century, and there is fine cricket in him yet.

MAJOR FAULKNER'S PUPILS

Major G. A. Faulkner, the great South African player, is very busy with his school of cricket at Farm Lane, Fulham. There are signs that this year enthusiasm for cricket will reach a high pitch, and Major Faulkner has a number of promising pupils. Among those who have come for special practice is the Lancashire bowler, Frank Sibbles. Last season he had lost a little of his nip and leg swing, but after careful practice he is getting them both back, and what is of no less importance, finding his confidence in himself restored. Hopwood is also at the school for a fortnight polishing up his hitting, and two other young Lancashire cricketers, Horridge and Barnes, are amongst the pupils.

EIGHT THOUSAND WORSHIPPED AT SUNRISE SERVICE

The Temple Choir then rendered the Gloria from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, the splendid anthem being followed by the hymn "The Day of Resurrection."

During the course of the service Dr. Davies said it had been suggested to him that the reason for the good attendance at these services was because so many stayed away from church during the year, they felt they ought to do some penance. The congregation was urged to attend the parish churches of the city and cheer the hearts of parish clergymen by crowding the edifices situated near their own homes for the Easter morning church service especially.

EASTER-TIME MESSAGE

The Easter-tide message of the church was stressed by Dr. Clem Davies in the address, which was carried to all those assembled by amplifiers.

"The church's message at Easter-tide," he said, "is that personality is the most victorious element in the universe and will live beyond the tomb. The church insists that Christ could not be held by death and that man cannot be held by the grave. Through the long years man has struggled and climbed to this great adventure in thought. He has an indestructible instinct that he will survive the grave, in spite of all the physical appearances against it."

DIVINITY NOT DIRT

"We are divinity, not dirt. We are not 'animated scum' living out a discreditable episode on one of the minor planets," Jesus believed in man. He called us 'Sons of God,' and if sons, then heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ. Immortality and eternal life are our heritage. Because He lives, we shall live also. We are personality. Personality means spiritual life, self-consciousness, that which is conscious of being, that which has ends and purposes. And we celebrate Easter because Christ, above all the sons of God, gave us the assurance of this truth: that our personality would survive. He said 'Where I am, there ye shall be also.'"

IMMORTAL PERSONALITY

"The essential and primary thing about Jesus was that He glorified men."

JOHN HUTCHISON, F.R.H.S.

NORMAN RANT, F.R.H.S., Garden Architects

All other philosophers and sages talked men down; He talked them up. He lifted up Himself and then cried 'I, if I be lifted up will draw all men unto me.' Wherever He went He lifted mankind. He made them believe in themselves. He said 'The Kingdom of God is within you. Now (already) are ye Sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what ye shall be, but we shall be like God.' He tried to uncover the eternal God-like-ness in every man. He knew it could not be done in a moment; nor in the span of a brief lifetime. While He Himself lived gloriously His thirty-three years. He was One apart.

"Christ knew that a brief lifetime here is insufficient to complete the God-like edifice in man's soul. Life is all too brief. During His own short sojourn, however, He gave us such an example of the divine in human personality such as will be forever unapproached on this planet. The whole life of the human race has been changed because of the impact of His personality."

MADE MEN BELIEVE
"Christ made us believe in man, in the 'Kingdom of God' in the coming reign of righteousness on earth, in human brotherhood, and eternal life. He made us see the greatness inherent in the prodigal. All His wonderful stories centred in the value of a man's soul. He found the gems and jewels in the despised tax-gatherer, the woman of Samaria, Mary Magdalene, and the haughty churchman, Nicodemus, as well as the shifting, impetuous Simon. Likewise the Christian gospel reaches out to all men with the same thought; that they are spiritual personalities; that God is in men; that down in the human heart lies that germ of 'God-essence' which will live forever. When the Christian church is true to herself and to her Master, she brings every system to Christ's acid test: What is our civilization, religion, industry, commerce and idealism doing to man's personality?"

APPLICATION OF TRUTH
"Now we come to the application of our morning's truth. Christ has uncovered personality. The question we face is: Does personality end at death? The apostles on that first Easter morn cried out 'Death hath no more dominion over Him; it was not possible that He should be holden of it.' We often wonder what happened to make those disciples so certain that Jesus was still alive. But why bother ourselves about physical details of our Lord's resurrection and miss the meaning of the glory of immortality? The living Christ is the church's glorious assumption; He is regnant in human hearts; the belief that He lives is inextricable in the minds of men."

"The physical details of survival after death do not concern us. We cannot picture the unpicturable. An unborn babe could not picture what the cradle of birth would be like. Birth might seem like death does to a babe unborn. We are all unborn babes in the womb of time. God will provide for us. When we entered this world, we came into life with a thrilling environment awaiting us, loving parents and relatives, affectionate surroundings, unfolding us. Jesus said 'I go to prepare for you. I will receive you unto myself. Where I am you will be also.'"

DEATH IS NEW BIRTH

"When we face the transition from this mortal plane to another it will be but another birth. We shall not stop because our mortal body disintegrates. It will take more than physical dissolution to stop personality. The tomb did not stop Jesus; the centuries have witnessed that. And death surely will not stop us. Christ said 'Because I live, ye shall live also.' That is what the church has insisted on through all the centuries. Death is but the door to a fuller, larger life. It is a birth; not a leap in the dark."

"They nailed Him to the cross, put Him in a sepulchre, rolled the great stone of doubt against the tomb, but it would have taken more than that to stop Him. Not otherwise is it with us."

"Recall the words of a prisoner released from the penitentiary after long incarceration. He gazed down the long valley in front of the prison gates and cried: 'I haven't looked more than 200 yards in front of me for twenty years.' Many of us on this mount could say that about ourselves. Take a long look down the valley of the shadow this morning. You are a personality. You are going to live forever. Your personality is God's most intrinsic trust to you. Take care of it: Live as though you believed it will survive."

"The church, the world over, to-day unites all men in the glad confession: Jesus is risen. The Christian church is built upon the fact that Jesus is alive. This morning, on this mount, we stand upon that luminous and sovereign fact and call on all men to join us in the exultant shout 'O death where is thy sting, O grave where is thy victory?' and with Whittier we sing:

"Yet Love will dream and Faith will trust (since He Who knows our need is just)

That somewhere, somehow, meet we must. Alas for him who never sees The stars shine through his cypress trees, Who hopeless lays his dead away, Nor looks to see the break of day Across the mournful marble play, Who hath not learned in hours of Faith The truth to death and sense unknown, That Life is ever Lord of death, And Love can never lose its own."

"And with Emerson, at the grave of his little boy, we cry:

"What is excellent— As God lives, is permanent. Hearts are dust; hearts' loves remain, Heart's love will meet thee again. Revere thy Master, Revere thy Master, Fetch thine eye up to his style And manners of the sky."

"And we conclude our morning thought with 'that gem of Ruth Le Prade':

"Beauty may wither And beauty may die, But the soul of beauty Endureth forever."

Flowers may wither And flowers may die, But the soul of flowers Endureth forever."

Lovers may wither And lovers may die, But the soul of love Endureth forever."

Mortals may wither And mortals may die, But the soul, which is God, Endureth forever."

The service concluded with a word of thanksgiving from Dr. Davies that the King had been restored to health and the National Anthem was sung, just prior to the Benediction.

In the offering taken for the sunrise service fund, $298 was received.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, April 21.—Wheat: Market displayed weakness during the first part of today's session, and after opening 1 cent lower, prices declined until they were 2½ cents under the close of last Thursday. This decline was largely in sympathy with the decline in Chicago on Saturday, while this market was closed and to further weakness again this morning.

Later in the day the market recovered about 2 cents from the earlier low marks with considerable short covering in evidence, which was decided to hold throughout, spring wheat territory and the forecast predicted that the cold wave was to spread south to parts of Kansas and Nebraska, heavy frosts being forecast. There was also a little buying of July that was credited to seaboard speculative account while a small spreading of bushels appeared to be confined to selling of May against purchase of July.

The return in prices was not held, the market again sinking to the low marks. Trade was being practically all export business done over the holidays, and with European markets nearly all closed today, no bids were received of any description. The cash market was very quiet with trade of a holiday character.

The southwest received numerous showers or rains the past few days, but the prospect for the future is not so promising. It is not material and general conditions of the winter wheat crop now appear to be mostly favorable. Market firms up again in the final moments, but the buying was largely short covering, while offerings were light.

Coarse grains: These markets were easier with a very light trade passing. There is little or no feature to coarse grains either cash or futures, and only an odd car of cash grain is changing hands with export business flat and apparently out of the question.

Flax: Continued dull and featureless. Very little selling pressure, but demand is lacking.

"Perhaps No Other One Thing Has Ever Caused More Misery Than the Old Superstition That Parents and Children Should Go on Living Together, No Matter How Uncongenial They Were"

WHY DO two people who really and truly love each other make each other miserable? asks a bewildered mother. "My daughter and I," she goes on to say, "are devoted to each other and in any time of stress we could depend upon each other for help. I have sacrificed everything to care for her, to educate her, to give her pretty clothes and a good time and when I have been sick she has nursed me faithfully. But we simply cannot get along together. We cannot live in peace and harmony. We rub each other the wrong way somehow. We wrangle over trifles. We say things that stab each other to the heart and when a scene is over we actually don't know what it was that we quarreled about. Why is it that I don't understand my own child and she doesn't understand me and we simply can't adjust ourselves to each other? What is the matter with us?"

Nothing, except nature. It is just that you are two antagonistic temperaments that can no more blend than oil and water. The old theory that mothers and daughters are invariably cut off the same bolt of human cloth and are of the same texture and pattern and width and weave and that they inevitably have the same tastes and desires and aspirations has no foundation in fact.

Sometimes the girl is a replica of her mother, and is worldly or pious, highbrowed or light-heeled, a club woman or bridge fiend, as mother is, and then we see the sympathy, the understanding, the harmony that makes the ideal relationship between mother and daughter about which poets and romancers rave. But just as often the mother and daughter are exact opposites in character and disposition. The girl is serious-minded while the mother is frivolous. The girl yearns for a career, while her mother is determined she shall get married. The girl longs for freedom and independence, while her mother is set on keeping her in leading strings.

In such a case, no matter how much the mother and daughter love each other, they are bound to clash continually because they see everything in the world from different angles. They have different scales of values. They have not a taste nor a desire in common. And just because the relationship is so close, just because they are both women and because the mother has always looked forward to having a daughter who was a rubber stamp of herself and who would think as she thought and want to do the things she wanted to do makes the clash of these opposing temperaments not only inevitable but incessant.

For at every turn some question is coming up about which mother and daughter disagree, and while mother is willing to grant her son a right to his own opinion, she does not extend the same privilege to her daughter. She is sure mother knows best when it comes to the girls.

Besides the uncongeniality which frequently exists between mothers and daughters and for which they are in no wise responsible, there is often that intangible quality that we can neither explain nor define that makes them get upon each other's nerves. We all have that Dr. Fell feeling about certain people. We may know them to be admirable individuals, models of all the virtues. We may respect their integrity and honor them for their achievements, but all the same everything they do irritates us.

If they express an opinion on any subject we find ourselves hotly combating their view, no matter whether we have ever thought of it before or not; if they want us to do a certain thing, we will do the opposite or die in the attempt. Wild horses couldn't drag us into their political party or their church or to their doctor or force us to wear the kind of clothes they like.

Now, although we refuse to recognize a very patent truth, parents and children often have this Dr. Fell attitude toward each other and, without intending it, rub each other beyond endurance. It is this latent antagonism, or sympathy, as the case may be, that causes one child always to be the storm center at home, always picked on by the parents, while the other is the fair-haired boy or girl who can get away with murder, so to speak.

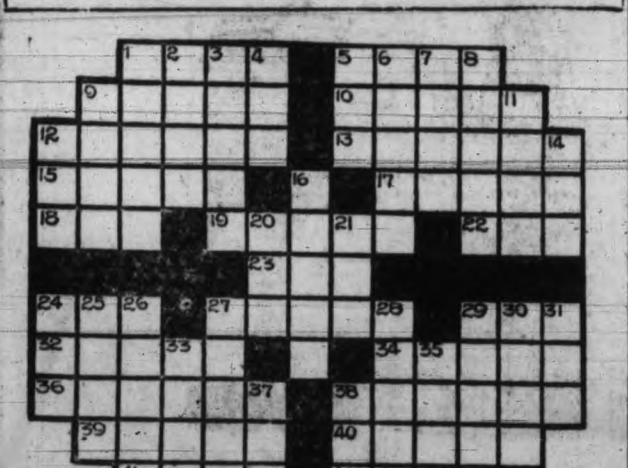

Perhaps no other one thing has ever caused more misery than the old superstition that parents and children should go on living together, no matter how uncongenial they were, no matter how much they quarreled, no matter how wretched they made each other. Fortunately, we are becoming more enlightened away and we perceive that often the only way to save the family circle is to break it and that frequently parents and children love each other better at long distance than they do at close range.

So, when parents and children find themselves in continual conflict the common-sense remedy for their trouble is simply to separate. Nothing is truer than that absence makes the heart grow fonder of our families. Distance gives us a perspective on their virtues, and from a hundred miles away we can appreciate the love that prompted the nagging, the anxiety that was back of the tyranny and even see the humor in the petty fault-finding which we could not perceive when we were right up against it day by day.

We can't help the uncongeniality of our relatives, but, thank heaven, we can get away from it if we have sense enough to buy a railroad ticket.

SPANISH DEMONSTRATION

Madrid, April 21.—Monarchial supporters braved disagreeable weather with enthusiasm yesterday when thousands flocked to the new bull ring here to demonstrate their loyalty to the King. The bull ring, seating 28,000, was jammed, many thousands standing in the area itself.

Civilian guards and police were stationed near the bull ring in force to prevent disorders.

Jose Gutierrez Rave, one of the meeting's organizers, in a speech, said King Alfonso had been the victim of unfair attacks. He described the ruler as sympathetic toward all his subjects, popular abroad and "more Spanish than all other Spaniards."

Morillo Dera, labor representative, said a great proportion of Spain's workers wanted the monarchy to continue.

HELPING SOLDIERS LED HER TO FAME

Ethel Hays, Artist Who Draws "Flapper Fanny," Found Road to Success After War Service

ETHEL HAYS, known the world over for her "Ethel" sketches, which appear in The Victoria Times, started to draw when going to school in Billings, Montana, and her ability led her to the art editorship of all her school publications. The ambition to be a professional artist cropped out right then.

After graduation she went to Los Angeles and studied in the Los Angeles School of Art and Design. Then, right across the country she went to New York, where, for three years, she attended the school of the Art League.

Her work included all the ordinary mediums—pen, water color, pastel, oils and charcoal. She studied portraits, landscape, design and nearly every form of art—all the while seeking to discover where her best talent lay.

Then along came the World War and knocked her artistic ambitions into a cocked hat—or, specifically, a nurse's cap. Ethel was so anxious to go overseas that she dropped her brushes and studied nursing.

After passing her Red Cross examinations, she discovered that the government needed drawing instructors for work in government hospitals. Here was her chance to do her bit without neglecting her chosen career.

She sent in her application and was shortly ordered to the base hospital at Camp Lewis, Wash. That was the start of six years as "reconstruction side."

As Ethel taught soldiers to draw, despondency faded while hands and

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

Although few women attempt to make breads and rolls to-day with the baker supplying "consistently" perfect products, quick breads and rolls are very popular in the home kitchen.

During early spring, when unreasonably warm days and rains sap appetites, fruit breads or rolls fresh from the oven will be found uncommonly inviting when served with cottage cheese for luncheon. These rolls are quickly and easily made and give a large "return" for the effort.

The rule is basically a baking powder biscuit formula with eggs and fruit added as needed. More or less shortening is used, depending on the nature of the roll wanted.

ITALIAN-STYLE ARTICHOKE

Four small globes, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, 4 tablespoons cold butter or olive oil.

Prepare artichokes by the rule given to-day and parboil fifteen minutes. Drain and arrange in a single layer in a buttered-baking dish. Four over the oil and sprinkle with cheese. Cover and bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes. Serve from baking dish with segments of lemon.

ARABIA MARU BRINGS BIG ORIENT LIST

Japanese Liner Docked Last Night From Far East With 123 Passengers

Manila Maru and Hawaii Maru Will Not Call at Victoria on Trips From Orient

Delayed several hours by adverse currents, coming up the straits from Cape Flattery, it was 8:45 o'clock last night before the O.S.K. liner Arabia Maru docked at the Rihet pier from China and Japan. She proceeded to Seattle at midnight.

Capt. C. Matsuzaki, master of the ship, reported a good two weeks' crossing from Yokohama, the last port of call in the Orient. The ship was aided by favorable winds all the way across, and with the exception of one or two days in mid-Pacific the sea was remarkably calm, the skipper reported.

The largest passenger list to be brought across the Pacific from the Orient to Victoria aboard a Japanese liner for some time was carried on the Arabia Maru this voyage. There were 123 passengers in all, classed, twenty-nine of the travelers leaving the ship here. These included two first cabin and twenty-seven steerage, all Japanese. The remainder, including a Japanese tour party of twenty-five people, went on to Seattle. Members of the tour party were young Japanese students and professional people on a two months' trip to Canada and the United States in search of practical education.

The ship carried a fair cargo. For Victoria there were 225 tons, most of which was loaded on the regular steamer today for Vancouver. Seattle got about 2,000 tons, including a fair shipment of raw silk.

NEW SCHEDULE

Schedules including trips of the steamer Hawaii Maru and Manila Maru in the North Pacific service have now been issued. These ships will not call at Victoria but will proceed direct from the Orient to Vancouver. The Manila Maru will arrive in Vancouver on her first trip on July 1, followed shortly afterwards by the Hawaii Maru. Neither are new ships, having served on the northern run several years ago.

SCHOONER IS YEAR AT SEA

Malahat Arrives at Vancouver For Cleaning With Barnacled Hull

Vancouver, April 21.—The auxiliary schooner Malahat arrived here yesterday after having spent one year at sea. Though the men on board were shaved and trim the ship was in dire need of a shave, and has gone to the Burrard Drydock Co. plant for bartering. She grew four feet long, looking like a jungle weaved and strewn from her bottom, and the barnacles are clustered deep all over the underwater portion of her hull. The sea growth on the vessel was so heavy that she could make but little better than a few knots an hour on her way up from the open sea. The ship arrived in ballast. She is commanded by Captain Stuart S. Some, who was very prominent in the Pacific about two years ago when his vessel, the Federalist, was driven by a cutter into Ensenada, Mexico, for shelter.

Around the Docks

Inbound from ports in China and Japan, the Blue Funnel liner Tathlybus will arrive at the William Head quarantine station tomorrow morning at 4 o'clock, the captain of the ship this morning advised the local pilots by wireless. The liner should be alongside the Rihet pier about 5 o'clock to discharge forty-eight tons of general cargo. Thirty-nine Chinese steerage passengers will also leave the ship here.

With a fair passenger list and a capacity cargo of Victoria and Vancouver freight, the C.P.R. steamer Princess Maquinn will sail from the Belleville Street docks at 11 o'clock to-night for ports along the west coast of Vancouver Island, going as far south as Port Alice before returning to Victoria.

For annual cleaning, painting and general overhaul, the Pacific Salvage Company's steamer Salvage King was floated into the government drydock at Esquimalt this morning. Yarrow's Limited will do the work on the ship and will release here in a few days.

There were several pleasure vessels in the harbor over the week-end from Puget Sound ports. Among them were the eighty-foot yacht Hlathwa, owned by Dr. F. A. Bird of Olympia and the
